EDITOR
TIM "Sorry?" BOONE

My first date was my worst ever. I asked this girl to go to the youth club and she wouldn't take out her Hubba Bubba when I kissed her. Later on I tried to impress her by swinging from a roundabout, flew off, lost my trousers and rolled around in agony for ages. When I looked up, she was gone and she told everyone at school about it the next day.

DEPUTY EDITOR
FRANK "HP" O'CONNOR

There's this bloke I know who really fancied this girl on the train and decided to ask her out. One day he put on his best gear and summoned up the nerve to talk to her, but when he opened his mouth to speak this enormous gob of phlegm flew out and landed on her chest. He got off at the next stop and never caught the train again...

ART EDITOR
JON "Really?" BILLINGTON

Me and my mates were out with these girls one time and we thought we'd impress them by showing off our boxer shorts. One by one the others pulled down their trousers and it came to my turn, but it was too late before I realised I wasn't wearing any. I'd like to say they were shocked, but they weren't.

BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER!

So, you're not seeing things... CVG really is the BIGGEST! Basically, the way a greatest has just become the biggest as well, offering you even greater value than ever before - added cover to cover with everything you need to know about games! OK, so you're getting a smacker holding this heavyweight piece of heroism - that's a small price to pay!

STAFF WRITER

PAUL 'Oh Ay' RAND

I took this girl out on a date and I was made up. Cos I thought she was right smart. We went to this night club but they threw the pair of us out when she revealed she was 14 and I was gobsmacked. I didn't know what to do next, so I walked around for ten years and eventually took this fat lass to the pictures.

DESIGNER

JENNY 'I don't know' ABROOK

'This really nice lad look me out in his new car on a date once and got hopelessly lost. He couldn't handle the car and kept trying to do three-point turns and things while everyone came up and watched. It just got worse and worse, and eventually we ended up on the motorway to London, and we'd only started round the corner from his house.'

MANAGING EDITOR

JULIAN 'Reckon!' RICHALL

'I really fancied this girl once and took her out for a curry at Bengal Benny's Bombay Bowl Emporium in Ludlow. We were halfway through our onion brains when I realised I didn't actually like her. And by the time the chicken vindaloo came round I hated her guts and my guts hated the vindaloo.'

WIN TEN SUPER NINTENDOS!

16 YES! CVG scoops the world once again to come up with another MASSIVE contest! Reckon you could come up with a grater goodie than Sonic or Mario? Or what about a better bady than Bowser or Robotnik? More to the point, do you want to win one of TEN Super Nintendo's? Shuffle your lunky stuff to those pages and find out how!

SPAWNY GET'S HOTLINES

19 I'm a right spawny gal ma, 'cos I've won a Megadrive, Super Nintendo, PC Engine and Game Boy in the CVG Hotlines! Am I jummy or what, eh, readers? And I've got a big pile of sweets at home as well, ma. Yoinks. A tennar.

SMASH TV - SUPERSCOOP!

Stuffed to the brim with everything you need to know about gaming on the GO!, the credit mag on the planet is yours for absolutely nothing at all!

And what with the biggest compo in any games magazine - you can win ten Super Nintendos and a trip to the UEFA Cup in Sweden! - CVG's got the bloody lot! But that's just the start of it - from next issue CVG has a completely new look, inside and out. It's all part of the big plan to keep the galaxy's greatest games mag such unbelievable value for money that other sad mags poop their pants the second we hit the shelves! So have fun and don't forget to write in and tell us what you think of the new size and what you think the new look should feature - there's a special mystery prize for the best letter we get! See you next month!

GIRLIES ARE GREAT

So who reckons computer games are just played by boys? You've got to be kidding! Judging from our Mailbag there are more and more girls out there playing games, but we haven't a clue how many of you there are! What machines do you own? What games do you like? Are you tougher than Matthew Stevens from Berton on the Wold? Write in and tell us why you're the greatest girl reading CVG right now! There's a brand new Game Boy (or Game Gear) for the best letter we get and we might even print your picture in the mag! What are you waiting for? ▼ Incredible stuff from Khalid Khanaker from Birmingham!

What a hoot! The response to the Drew The Boys compo we've been running over the last few issues has been incredible, but now the time has come to announce the winner. Tons of you sent in totally gobsastic pieces of the gang, but at the end of the day there's just one spawny get who walks off with the Megadrive, and he is (slow drumroll please) Khalid Khanaker from Edgbaston, Birmingham! Khalid actually entered twice (which is perfectly alright) and we printed his first ploy back in March. Here's his second, and it was so good he just had to win! So congratulations to him, and commiserations to all the other CVG heroes whose fab work has been printed in these very pages!

Now here's the good news - this compo has proved such a success I've decided to run just about the same thing again, with one variation, and there's ANOTHER Megadrive up for grabs! This time round, all you have to do is pick one of the CVG boys and make him look as ridiculous as you can. The sillier we look, the more chance you've got to win - it's as simple as that! So grab that drawing gear (and try to use biro or ink because it prints better!) and wangle your entry off to: ROB AND GEORGE ARE BEST AT KICK OFF AFTER ALL, SORRY LAOS, COMPUTER AND VIDEO GAMES, PRIORY COURT, 30-32 FARRINGTON LANE, LONDON EC1R 3AU. We'll print a selection of the best and the winner waltzes off with a spunky new Megadrive! By the way - anyone who's too lazy to write out the full address will have their entry thrown straight in the bin. You have been warned!

XENOMORPHS? TERMINATORS? THEY'RE NO MATCH FOR

I'M UGLY I AM!
 Reckon you can put the ugliest mug this side of Eastington? Reckon you can mesh up your mush end hope the wind doesn't change before you've given everyone a great laugh? Well, you need to be right here in the world's greatest games meg! That's right, we want you to send in pictures of yourself pulling the worst face you can and best of the lot win...nothin'. Not a sausage. Not even a savoy. Nowt - except the glory of having your ugly mug printed right here in CVGI! So pull the ugliest face you can, get a picture of your contortion and dare us to open the envelope at I'M AN UGLY MUG! V. COMPUTER AND VIDEO GAMES, 30-32 FARRINGTON LANE, LONDON EC1R 3AU. Aaaargh!

There was a quite unbelievable response to the I Wanna Be Famous Too compo we ran a few issues back. In fact, it was so popular that one BBC celebrity rang up to ask us all about it! Sadly there can only be one winner, who well-sets away with £200 software for his machine, and he is none other than Robin Thesington, from Gerrard's Cross, Bucks, who actually managed to look more famous than the celeb he was pictured with! Robin's picture was easily our fave, but thanks to all who entered! By the way, Robin, you never told us which machine you own - so get in touch and let us know!

SPECIAL REPORT

SUPER NINTENDO HITS HOME AT LAST!

We've been waiting for ages now, but the Super Nintendo is here at last! Yes indeed, Nintendo's wonder machine should be just about in the shops by the time you read this! Priced at £149.99, the machine includes Super Mario World bundled free in the box, with two other games - F-Zero and the stonkingly superb Super Tennis - immediately available.

Super Soccer and Super R-Type should follow next month, with other official UK releases to include Zelda II (Yay!), Castlevania 4, Sim City and - wait for it - Final Fight! (Double yay!) So now the fight begins for 16-bit console dominance on the console scene. Will it be Sage who rule the roost with Sonic, or will Mario be king of the console castle? It's YOU who decides!

Unless you're an incredibly sad shambler you'll already have read through our totally brilliant Official UK Super Nintendo Handbook and been gobsmacked by its complete brilliance, telling you everything you need to know about the machine.

For months you've been asking about the machine - and now you've got everything you need to know! What more could you ask? A competition to win one perhaps? Turn straight to page 16 'cos we're giving away TEN! Howzat for the greatest games mag in the world!

SUPERSCOPE ON TARGET FOR UK

Nintendo are set to launch the world's biggest light gun on the 16th of you and me! Called the Super Scope, this thing looks like it came off the set of Star Wars - it's huge, it's sleek, and if Nintendo's publicity is to be believed it's the most accurate light gun available! Super Scope will be launched with a multi-game cartridge featuring a host of fairly simplistic target games, but the Super Nintendo's scaling and rotation abilities leave obvious scope for a truly amazing Operation Wolf-style game! No firm release details for light gun software as yet, but look out for some amazing stuff in the near future...

TO BE WON

NEWS

Springfield's most notorious prankster is back for a second helping of SNES related fun in Bart vs The World! The yellow-haired perk has won a trip round the world courtesy of Krusty Careal Products and has the chance to earn his fame and fortune with a live appearance on the Itchy and Scratchy show. Itchy and Scratchy are Bart's heroes and this is a chance he can't afford to lose. Unfortunately Mr Burns, the boss of the local nuclear power plant, has other ideas. He and his assistant Smithers, have arranged to have Bart's journey interrupted by members of the Burns clan around the globe.

These include an abominable snowman version, a Chinese kung fu master version and of course, Mr Burns himself! The action is mostly platform based, but there's a fair bit of puzzle solving thrown in. Best of all though, is the incredible skateboard sequence where you get the chance to ride down a hill at breakneck pace avoiding obstacles! The game is due out in a few months courtesy of Acclaim, so rest assured we'll bring you more news the second it arrives!

NEW

WHAT THE HELL IS THIS?

In this month's uncanny coincidence slot, Ian Green from Essex spotted what appears to be a packet of Bonanza Bros crisps! Smith's totally lab cheese and onion Tuba Loops look like crispy potato versions of Robo and Moby from the Sega coin-op. While Robo and Moby are top international burglars, we accept that the testy Smiths crisps have never been involved in, nor associated with any arcade related criminal activity. However, we suggest that you search the shops for any other video game related snacks. Anyone fancy a scrumptious flavoured Streetfighter?

AMIGA'S BIG BROTHER REVEALED!

Commodore are all set to launch a successor to the A500. Imagine, creatively titled the A600, the machine should be priced at around £399, although Commodore will neither confirm nor deny this. The differences between the new machine and the old are slight, but important nonetheless. For a start, it will have a new version of the Workbench operating system, but more importantly, a built in TV modulator - no more stupid boxes sticking out of your Amiga! As far as appearance goes, the new machine will be a lot smaller and more compact and rumours has it that the numerical keypad on the right of the machine will be removed and the machine trimmed and smartened up, with a hard drive version expected to be launched soon after. Expect the A600 in the shops around Autumn time!

JOLLY APRIL JAPERY!

Oh dear oh dear oh dear! There are going to be an awful lot of rosy red cheeks out there when you lot realise we had not one but TWO April Fools in the last issue! Most of you got the Holostar 2000 straight off (which was the intention) but completely failed to spot that Streetfighter 2 on the Gameboy in GO! was a chin spin as well! What can we say, except laugh our socks off at all those who thought they'd sussed us! You'll have to get up a bit earlier than that.

THE FIRST PC TO BREAK THE SOUND BARRIER.

We gave the Amstrad PC5286® all the best features you need for serious business use and great games entertainment. Then we gave it features which were unheard of.

16MHz SPEED - NO COMPROMISE

We built the PC5286® around an ultra-fast 16MHz 286 processor, so you'll have all the speed you need to get through the business of the day, with enough time to play around.

A massive 1 megabyte of RAM, 40 megabyte hard drive and 1 44 megabyte 3.5" floppy disk drive combine to make best use of this computing power - the PC5286® is built to perform.

SUPERB VGA GRAPHICS

As you'd expect, the PC5286® also offers state-of-the-art graphics with a 14" high quality VGA monitor which will display up to 256 colours from a palette of over a quarter of a million.

Terrific for business applications, but all that colour is wasted on games if you've got no sound capability.

TWIN SPEAKER SOUND

So we gave it a sound system that makes it unique.

Its fully 'Ad-Lib' compatible soundcard with twin external speakers gets you closer to the action, bringing a whole new dimension of enjoyment to your PC.

THE COMPLETE SYSTEM

The Amstrad PC5286® Family Pack comes with everything you need for both work and play. Microsoft Works, the market-leading integrated business software package, is included together with three of today's latest and greatest games. Also supplied are a fully featured keyboard, mouse, MS DOS 3.3® and a precision analogue joystick. To top it all, for ease of use, the PC5286® comes with 'Counterpoint', the outstanding user-friendly graphical interface.

ダーメガを発表

IT'S THE WONDERFUL WONDERMEGA

JVC, known as Victor Musical Industries in Japan, have finally launched the Wondermega - the all in one Mega CD/Magadrive unit, as reported in last month's CVG with an artist's impression of the machine. This is what the beast actually looks like, and as you can see we were pretty darned close!

The machine is remarkable in quite a few respects, not least of which is the unexpectedly high price! It retails in Japan for around £330, which is actually more expensive than buying the Magadrive and Mega CD separately. The unit as slick and sleek as anything you could hope for and technically it's fairly identical to Sega's own piggy-back combination.

Obviously the whole thing is a lot neater, but the actual CD facilities have been greatly enhanced. You now have at your disposal a very impressive CD unit. It's much easier to connect the thing to a hi-fi and, joy of joys, it has a built-in Karaoke machine! This sophisticated extra allows you to remove the voice track from CDs and sing along to your favourite tunes! Watch out for this machine - it's gonna be a goodie!

F15 HITS THE NES!

Microprose, the top gazers behind the worlds best simulation software are about to unveil a top treat for Nintendo gamers. F15, their simulation of America's smartest jetfighter is all set to be launched on the NES and Gameboy! Fly dangerous missions over deadly enemy terrain as crack enemy pilots try to pop you out of the sky. The vectors from the original 16 bit versions have been simplified, but from what we hear this should be the only choice for top gun pilots on the NES! Rumour has it that this game will be launched on the Super Nintendo shortly afterwards and it's promising to be something very special indeed. Stay tuned for more info!

WIN!

A SUPER NINTENDO!

THE WAIT IS OVER! The official UK Super Nintendo is finally here - and we've got TONS of them to give away! It's the right folks, the galaxy's greatest games magazine, who decide what wins it. Games in the Super Nintendo CUG will be the hottest companions and the best prizes again and again!

Get out your drawing stuff and create your Super Nintendo games hero or a nice clean sheet of paper. Try not to use a pencil, but a black biro or ink pen instead because we'll be printing all the winners right here in the mag! At the end of the day it's the idea that counts - so if you can't, don't worry - you've got time to think!

Tell us why your Super Nintendo character is so utterly brilliant, get us widdling with a few men and who knows, Art Editor Joe might even draw it for you!

This time we've got TEN (that's right, TEN!) Super Nintendo prizes waiting for some lucky readers to walk away with - courtesy of Nintendo themselves. How much longer and better can you get than that? Your favourite games mag is giving away this monstrous prize to celebrate the official UK launch of the Super Nintendo, which costs £149.99 and comes bundled with the brilliant and incredibly brilliant Super Mario 4 (shown in context) and utterly free!

Which ever option you go for, you've got to try your whistles on - the closing date for this competition is Monday May 11 - and your entry's GOT to be here by that date to stand a chance of winning, so fire those entries on to: LUMMIE MUMMY! I WANT A SUPER NINTENDO! COMPUTER AND VIDEO GAMES, PRIORITY COURT, 30-32 PARK ROAD LANE, LONDON, EC1R 3AW. What are you waiting for? You've got to be in it to win it!

So what do you have to do to win on info line? Super with your very own Super Nintendo, looking safely under your arm? It's simple: we want you to design your very own console games super star and blow our socks off with your brilliant ideas! (optional) Maybe you think you've got the Super Nintendo character who's cuter than Mario (reaction?) or maybe you can go a step up with an alien super being so fierce he'll make us gasp around the room wondering how mummy the second we open the lid! Whatever you decide to go for, here's what to do:

SUPER NES £40

BY AGCLAIN

It's the gamehow to end them all. Forget Leslie Crowther and The Price Is Right, this is big time. The biggest social class in the world is the TV addict - mindless vegetables with an insatiable desire for game shows, couch potatoes with an increasing lust for ever more extreme television. Violence is the name of the game and the meesse just love it. In the ratings war that ensues, TV companies come up with ever more shocking themes for their shows. When the biggest TV corporation throws caution to the wind and comes up with Smesh TV, the war is over and the audience is won. Smesh TV is a smash. The TV show sees either one or two competitors in a fight for their lives, with cash and goodie prizes for the victorious. All the losers get is dead. And forgotten.

Probably the shoot 'em up of the Nineties, Smesh TV caused real weese when it turned up in the arcades. Smart graphics, great sound and oodles of violence brought the Robotron legend to a whole new generation. This conversion was eagerly awaited and there was tension in the air when we plugged in the cart - and discovered it was near enough arcade perfect! The game relies on one thing - speed - and this version here more of that than most people can cope with! The sheer number of beddies on screen will have you filling your pants with mortal dread as they head towards you, guns blazing. Gameplay is really simple, but it works a treat! Just blast everything and stay alive! Graphically the game is excellent: nice backdrops, brilliant animation and colourful sprites all round while the end of level beddies are huge and very impressive. Music is racy and driving, but the sound deserves some sort of medal. Sampled explosions shake your monitor and there's speech ehhh the game show host gives his commentary. Along with Mario and Super Ghosts and Ghoette, this is an essential purchase for Super Nintendo owners.

LOVELY, MARVELLOUS, SMASHIN'...

Smash TV is nothing like the game shows we know and loathe. Oh no. There's no throwing darts, no general knowledge and no word puzzles. This is death and violence from start to finish. Armed initially with machine guns, the contestants are thrown into a maze of arenas and the game show host throws everything he has at them. Thugs armed with clubs, mutants with machine guns and electrified robots are just a few of the psychotic killers that await our heroes. All they have to do is shoot the baddies and live as long as they can. Cash prizes, holidays, cars and smart luggage sets can be won - provided the boys can survive long enough to enjoy them. Help comes along every now and then in the form of extra weapons which hot up the carnage for a short period of time. If you get far enough, you'll meet some of the show's larger celebrities and could even find yourself in the Smash TV hell of fame. In the words of the commentator himself: 'Good luck...you'll need it!'

KEEP OUT OF THE BLACK

As with all good game shows, the object of Smash TV is sheer, unadulterated greed. Every now and then a big pile of money appears - or it could be travel vouchers, or luggage, or even a car. Your score rises as every object you collect, but good players will soon realise that this stuff is even more valuable at the end of a section. All your stuff gets lotted up by the computer after the defeat of a boss and you receive a massive bonus. If you're skill and groovy enough to reach the end of the game though, you get a bonus for every single item collected! Scores amassed in this fashion can get quite unfathomably huge, and it's a laugh to watch your score pile up while your sad mate's cash pile is left way behind!

Remember, the mines are just as dangerous as the big guy! ▼

This map lets you know where points are! ▼

A MILLION WAYS TO WIN!

The first thing you'll notice when you're playing Smash TV is the sheer number of sprites on screen at once. Surely the Super Nintendo should slow down when there are a lot of sprites on screen. Well, it does if you're a lazy programmer and you use the hardware alone. Not here though! The Super Nintendo is supposedly dead slow and as far as clock speed goes, but the main processor does all it's bit in the hardware to make up and clever coding such as that used in this game makes Super Nintendo sprites zoom about like nobody's business. Smash TV is superfast and features squillions of sprites on screen at once - it's a line feat which bodes well for the future of Super Nintendo gaming as a whole.

▲ Kill that fat bloke, he's more than just a pretty face you know!

LISTEN TO TONY...

The extra weapons in Smash TV are not only useful, they're essential. They appear in the arena from time to time, but you only have a few seconds to pick them up before they vanish. The goodies on offer include a spreading machine gun fire, grenades, rockets, swirling razor blades and a very rare bomb which only appear on screens with end of level badies present. The bosses will not even winch when faced with ordinary machine gun fire and you can only destroy them with a special weapon. Speed ups and shields can also be found and make life a bit easier for the Smash TV contestant, but at the end of the day it's instincts and reactions that really count!

▲ Aargh! Totally tripped!

These are used as a second direction pad. You simply press the top button to fire up, the bottom to fire down and so on. Obviously you use combinations of these buttons to fire diagonally. It seems a bit weird at first, but once you get the hang of it control of the characters becomes a dream. This mimics the control method of the coin-op perfectly and arcade fans will flip when they try it!

LET'S HAVE A LOOK AT WHAT YOU WOULD 'A WON...

The plot of Smash TV sounds a bit familiar, and so it should. The idea of a violent futuristic gameshow has been around since the classic seventies movie Rollerball. That theme was taken to the extreme a little more recently in the Arnie smash hit, the Running Man, which in turn was based very loosely on a Stephen King book about a man who's sent into a city and hunted down by armed killers. The movie of course was totally different and it was directed by Paul Michael Glaser out of Star Trek and Hutch and a lot of the CVG boys thought it was crap. The most notorious of the future game show themes was the movie Death Race 2000, which featured a car race in which you score points by knocking down pedestrians, which is not very wise

▲ Is he ugly or what?

REVIEW

Smash TV was an arcade blast and a hell, and I never really expected the home console version to come up to the mark - but Acclaim have done themselves proud and turned in a conversion which almost tops the coin-op for sheer speed and excitement! All the best features of everyone's favourite pocket change guzzler have been faithfully captured, right down to crystal clear sampled speech, grunts, groans and yells! The sheer number of sprites the Super Nintendo manages to cram on screen is truly awesome - and sometimes you don't ever think the one ought to be going to end! There's a real sense of urgency about the game - you'll find yourself hanging on until the bitter end when your boy gives up with a groan and finally sinks into the dust as the commentator burbles on. The NES version was the best game of its type on that machine, and Acclaim have done it again on the Super Nintendo to provide the most awesome home arcade blaster yet seen. If you own a Super Nintendo and you like your action fast and furious, you'd have to be a dribbling loony to pass up Smash TV. Buy this cart and tell all your jealous mates you've got the best game machine in your bedroom, because that's basically what this is. Buy it!

OH DEAR, LADS...

The best thing about Super Nintendo Smash TV is the brilliant control method. The SNES control pad has four fire buttons and these are used as a second direction pad. You simply press the top button to fire up, the bottom to fire down and so on. Obviously you use combinations of these buttons to fire diagonally. It seems a bit weird at first, but once you get the hang of it control of the characters becomes a dream. ## T.V.

CRIKEY! Not only does the world's mega-hot Smesh TV for an Exclusive Review, but here we go with a CVG special on the history of this fabby coin-op. FRANK O'CONNOR's itching to tell you all about it, so here he is...

One of the many covers

MOW 'EM DOWN

The history of Smesh TV is a long and colourful one. Williams started the whole thing with a coin-op called Robotron 2084, a game which wreaked havoc in the arcades. Apart from the classic Dafender - which, incidentally, was written by the same bloke! - it was the only game that was really, really difficult. The control method was also a novelty - two joysticks side by side, one for moving the character and one for firing in any of eight directions. The screen basically filled up with hazers and bad-dies and the object of the exercise was to evade humanoid host-ages - you simply walked over them and gained bonus points! Robotron featured apparently intelligent baddies who followed you around or even tried to cut you off. In fact they were as thick as mince, but that didn't really matter. The game was tricky on the first level, but once you reached level ten, things just got stupidly difficult.

AN OCEAN OF CONVERSIONS

Ocean hit the spot early in the last year with their rollocking conversions on the 8 and 16-bit micros, all programmed by Proba. The 8-bit versions, surprisingly, are better in many ways than their 16-bit cousins. The control system again became an issue, with twin joysticks being an option on all versions. The graphics on the ST and Amiga versions were a bit lousy, but good programming saved the day and Ocean did a fine job across all formats. Best of the bunch? The Amstrad and Spectrum versions, curiously enough which stretched their host machines to their limits. Basically this means just about anyone can enjoy blowing everything to bits, which is just as well really.

SHOOT 'EM TO BITS

Smesh TV is currently available on the Nintendo NES and it's an oh-so-corking conversion, certainly as good as you could expect from an 8-bit machine. The control method is a little kooky, but it seems to work quite well. In one player mode, you can use both joypads, obviously one for movement and one for firing. Trying to figure it out causes brain leakage at first, but practice pays off and it's among the best shooters on the NES and worth forty quid of anyone's money.

BLOODY HELL! Not only does CVG grab the Super Nintendo Exclusive and tell you all about the game, we've gone and scooped everyone yet again to tell you all about the sequel to the arcade game - and it's not even out yet!

BLOW 'EM AWAY
The game produced a whole new breed of arcade gamor, something akin to the movie "Tommy". They couldn't possibly see what was going on in the frenzied bad-die infested screen, but they still survived and kept on reeking up points. The extrafringe violence involved often made their eyes glaze over and they would drool and slobber as they played. Jeff Minter, the famous hairy person was such a big fan of Robotron that he did his own version and gave it away for next to nowt on the Public Domain market. Being Jeff Minter though, the enemies were all replaced with things like Llamas and cans of colic. Then along came Smesh TV in the arcades and what a hit that was. Using the technology pioneered in the amazing Nete con-op, it was a blatant rip off of Robotron. That was all right though, because Williams did both machines so nobody cared.

TOTAL CARNAGE

TOTALLY AWESOME!

Total Carnage is the name of the follow-up to the phenomenally successful Smesh TV, and it should be blasting its way into an arcade near you pretty fippin' soon! As you can see from these scummy screenshots, the game is looking totally amazing, and seems to have taken all the best bits from the first game and improved on them! Captain Carnage and Major Meyhem are your main men. They don't just sit about and hiddle their thumbs and drink exotic tea when the going gets tough. Oh no. They saddle up with some serious hardware, get going and kick ass on a grand scale!

ALL SORTS OF ACTION!

Frow what we've seen, Total Carnage features an amazing goodie bag of features and bonuses to try before you die. These include maps, secret codas, special warps and serious firepower - alongside the usual meymen we've come to know and love from the boys behind Smesh TV. Just like Robotron and Smesh TV, Total Carnage will be a two-joystick game - one for movement and one for firing direction. There's also the infamous Smart Bomb for that tidal wave of destruction from which there's no escape! Total Carnage looks to be a treat and a hell and no mistake. Rest assured we'll be giving the arcade machine the full overhaul just the second we can!

Amiga Software — Games marked (NOP) will not work on the AMIGA A500 PLUS.

MEGADRIVE £34.99

BY DATA FAST

Take two crude dudes named Biff and Spike, genetically engineered warriors from a devastated city. Find yourself some trouble and send 'em into action, because that's what you built them for after all it's New York in the year 2020 and an accident with some plutonium has completely levelled the city. The problem is that amidst the rubble and devastation, a twisted, evil scientist has been building an army of mutants and robots, all armed to the teeth and very angry. Fortunately Biff and Spike are the two hardest dudes in the post-holocaust world. Their method is a little unavoursy (hence the "Crude" nickname) but they get the job done. Their mission is to utterly destroy the army of fiende and take on the professor himself. Beat it all though, they get paid for doing it! Get busting, crudeal!

The original arcade game never really took the arcade world by storm, but it was a good laugh nonetheless. The Megadrive conversion is a much more enjoyable game. The graphics look as if they have been taken straight from the coin-op and are quite unfeebly colourful for a Megadrive title. The sprites are among the best the Sega machine has seen, with superb animation and hilarious baddies. The background scrolls by in super-smooth parallax, adding a real sense of devastation to the proceedings. The music is new standards, with brilliant guitar soundtracks and sampled screams throughout. Gameplay is a real treat. It's very simple at first, but you soon learn all sorts of tricks and tactics as the baddies become more concerned. Playing by yourself is challenging and addictive, but things go into overdrive in two-player mode. The end of level baddies are imaginative and well designed and playing at any difficulty level higher than easy is a real challenge. Even once you've completed this game, you'll be plugging it in and coming back for more. This cert breathes new life into an otherwise staid genre. Get crude, dude!

RUDE DUDES

One of the neat and hilarious features of Two Crude Dudes, is their ability to pick each other up. Walk up to your team-mate, press the A button and you'll lift him clean above your head! Simply wait until some baddies arrive at the scene and then hurl him at them. Using a pal in this fashion doesn't actually hurt him - but it knocks hell out of the enemy! This feature is especially useful when confronting the end of level baddies. It can get really annoying though, when you keep getting thrown about instead of getting your share of the action. Put me down, dude!

CHEWED DUDES

If you fancy a bit of horizontally scrolling beat 'em up action, then there are a host of titles to choose from. Super Shinobi was the first and arguably the best beat 'em up on the Megadrive and is still widely available. A big emphasis on platform puzzles in that one. Strider is a visually spectacular game of a similar ilk, but again, the emphasis is on platform action. Straightforward Kung Fu action can be found in Last Battle, but frankly it's not much good. Alternatively, you could opt for the technically brilliant but rather slow Budokan. There are tons of others, but you probably know about them already! In fact, we'll put up a free Megadrive game to anyone who can send us the longest list!

SHREWD DUDES

If you're the sort of person who likes throwing an eighty strop and chucking stuff about to get attention then this is the game for you! You can pick up almost everything in the game except the backgrounds - rocks, bins, lamp posts, rubble and almost every single bad guy! There's even a point in the game where you're attacked by tanks and yes, you can pick them up too.

Throwing a tank is not only impressive, it's also very effective, destroying almost anything in its path. What a hoot! Getting anywhere in the game is virtually impossible without learning how to throw and it takes quite a bit of practice but it's worth it to chuck your weight about - or somebody else's as the case may be.

FOOD DUDES

Along the hazard-strewn path you'll get quite a lot of stuffing kicked out of you. This would be a very big problem if it wasn't for the handy Coke machines lying around in the rubble. When you come across one and give it the kicking it so richly deserves, out pops a can of cola! Slugging this back tops up your energy levels and you can drink as much of the stuff as you like. Of course, in two-player mode the competition for the cans is intense. Throwing your pal around as he's about to reach full energy is a laff riot. The cola machines also turn up at the end of every level, giving you a chance to beef up your energy levels even more. Hurray!

▲ Watch out - it's Mr Whippy!

▲ Criskey those shoes!

▲ Fancy some power? Grab a couple of cans!

LEWD DUDES

The evil dudes who attack you during the course of the game come in various guises, none more hilarious than the evil Santa clone! This guy was working in a department store when the holocaust happened and as a result he turned blue and got very nasty. He attacks furiously but he's very small and quite easy to beat. His mates are just as silly - including psycho cabbies, armadillos and a Tarminator clone. This guy attacks in the guise of a human, but a good kicking soon reveals him to be a cyborg who will pull off his own head and throw it at you. Pretty stupid, huh?

CRUDE DUDES

Two Crude Dudes might sound like a pretty stupid name for a game but it's not half as stupid as the original arcade game, which was called Crude busters. We all know what a crud is, but what's a crude exactly and how do you bust one? Would you really want to if you knew how? Does any body really care?

By some miracle I missed out on the Two Crude Dudes coin-op, which is a pity - because if it's anything like the I think I'd have been a tad impressed by its fun-packed beat 'em up action! I may not have been too overawed by the graphics, mind you - these Megadrive sprites are a bit on the aqua side and don't animate all that fluidly. Still, the idea of smashing up the vending machine to nick the cans of drink is well done, especially the Batman-like "Whack!" and "Thwack" flashes which appear with each hit. Lots of beddie to smash to a pulp and tons of weapons to pick up like concrete blocks, lamp-posts and even old cars all add to the fun. Sound is above average, but after being treated to the sonic feast of Streets of Rage I was quite frankly left wanting. This isn't the best beat 'em up on the Megadrive - Streets Of Rage still holds that accolade and probably will for quite a while - but if you've got that and are looking for a thumping new challenge then Two Crude Dudes should see you alright for a while.

NES

BY OCEAN

What do you think the best kind of video game hero is? Is it a rock-hard mercenary with a bionic arm? Is it an intrepid xenophobic space explorer? Is it a crack F16 pilot? Not according to Taito, who reckon a fluffy yellow Kiwi is hardest of 'em all! New Zealand Story tells the tale of a little gang of Kiwis who get kidnapped by an evil weirus. Fortunately, our hero escapes and decides to rescue his comrades. In his favour, he has an

THE NEW ZEALAND STORY

NOT MANY PEOPLE KNOW THIS...

New Zealand Story was the product of a Japanese Taito programmer who went to New Zealand for his hols and game back with the game! Playing through you'll see all the tourist spots he visited, 'cos he put them all in! Those crazy dudes!

unlimited supply of arrows, great jumping skills and limited flying abilities. Not so much in his favour is the fact that he's a small yellow ball of fluff. The odds are stacked against you, the challenge is vast and you're on a little feller after all. Oh well, it's off to the heart of New Zealand for a spot of platform-related action!

The arcade version of New Zealand Story was a bit of an oddity. The graphics were unspectacular and the gameplay was nothing new. What separated it from the rest of the crowd was something Taito was famous for. That elusive something, that spark of playability that keeps you coming back for more. The NES version, to Ocean's credit, is spot on perfect. All the screens are there, all the levels and all the hidden stuff. The simple graphics have been reproduced faithfully and the music is an upbeat remix of the arcade theme. Playability is there in bucketloads and the game itself is huge. Niggles are few and far between, but one complaint is the appalling sprite flicker when too much is going on. Sometimes the poor Kiwi completely disappears and off you trot to your death! The best thing about New Zealand Story (as with the Mario games) is the sheer number of things to discover - finding weapons, vehicles and hidden levels has you playing into this wee small hours. NES owners have the best platform games of all time in the Mario series, but buying this pretty damn good arcade conversion won't do you any harm at all!

FLY BOY!

Kiwi's can fly - but only just. They flap their wings a lot, sort of take off, flap their wings a bit more and hope to stay up. Fortunately, New Zealand is packed full of weird and wonderful flying machines. These include airships of various descriptions, a spaceship, a friendly goose and weird floating space hoppers. They all handle differently and some are more fragile than others. Collecting a joystick icon helps ease the dodgy momentum on some of the craft and makes those tight turns easier.

HIDDEN BONUS SCREENS AHOY!

There are lots of ways to make progress in New Zealand Story, but none faster than the secret warp zones! These are totally invisible and the only way to detect them is to shoot them. When your missiles mysteriously vanish, keep firing at this invisible doorway enough times and a flaming spiral will appear. Simply walk into it and hey presto - you're several screens further forward!

These doorways are dotted around the landscape and some are harder to find than others. By using these, it's possible to get to the end of the game without much effort, but you have to be a bit of a genius to find them all.

Jump on the yellow space-hopper and fly away!

JOE MONTANA 2 MEGADRIVE BY SEGA £40

American Football games aren't what you could call rare on the Megadrive. John Madden's, John Madden's '92 and Joe Montana's are all clamouring for a slice of the action, with that Mr Madden currently winning the downs AND kicking for the extra point. Still, Sega reckon there's room for one more, so pull on your shoulder pads and helmet and hit the gridiron in the latest American Football sim to appear on the 16-bit superster. That man Montana is wheeled out again to be your guide through the trials and tribulations of each game, with commentary and statistics to inform and assist the player along the way. Use real plays to get those downs and move you further towards that elusive touchdown, but remember that to be the best your defence needs to be as hot as your offence. It's all very well being a high-scoring hero, but if your blitz is the only one, forget it. What are you waiting for? Play ball!

I first saw this game quite a while ago, and have to confess not playing it again until it came up on official release. Pitted against the likes of Madden's and now Madden's '92, you've got to be bold to release an American Football game on the Megadrive. You need something special as well, and here it must be said Joe Montana does deliver. The commentary-style speech is a real gobsmecker when you first hear it - it's a hoot and a half to play while the yank burbles away just like they do on the telly! For my money Joe Montana is a simple game then Madden's, opting for a completely different presentation style. It's a lot easier to pick up and play and it's quite a laugh for a while. Then the speech starts to pall a bit and before long you're turning down the volume because you've heard it all before. Then you discover that the game isn't really that cheap, and although the whole package has been put together very professionally it just doesn't score in long-term appeal and doesn't come close to Madden's, which still ranks king of the castle. Sega deserve a pat on the back for giving it a go, and the result certainly isn't bad - but you're still better off with Madden's unless you've got tons of cash and can afford to get them both!

WHAT THE HELL IS THIS SPORTS TALK STUFF?

You may well be wondering why this game is called Joe Montana II: Sports Talk Football. Well, it's quite simple, really. This is the first of the new Sega Sports Talk range - games which actually tell you through the action! There are about one hundred and fifty different words sampled in Joe Montana's, which are then strung together to form sentences and chucked out whilst the game is happening. It's an extremely effective feature of the game - like having commentators at work in your Megadrive cartridge!

ON HIS LAST LEGS

Joe Montana, for those of you who don't know (like most of the population who think that The Refrigerator is a large cold unit used to store dairy produce and other perishables) is quarterback for the famous San Francisco 49ers. Unfortunately for old Joe, he's getting on in years, having only been able to play a couple of times this season due to dodgy knees. Still, this one should help supplement his pension.

HOW DO YOU PLAY?

The rules of American Football, to the majority of the world except the States, sound complicated. And indeed they are, but here's a quick rundown anyway. One side attacks, the other defends. They each choose a play - the attackers would go for a running play or attempt to pass the ball to a mate, while the opposition need to select a play to counteract that of the boys with the ball. Basically, you have four goes (called downs) to move the ball forward by ten yards. If you don't achieve this, the defending team get to attack. Get the ball to the start of the opposing team's side of the field and you score a touchdown, worth six points, and the opportunity to kick the ball between the posts for an extra point. There you go!

SUPER NES £45

BY KOHAMI

Lance and Bill Gyzzer are the hardest duo in the Universe. They like guns, really big guns. They like bombs too. And knives and grenades and flame throwers. Lance and Bill are total psychos, which is why the US Government has sent them on a suicidal mission. Aliens have invaded and virtually destroyed the Earth and it's up to our unhinged heroes to invade the enemy fortress and kill the evil alien emperor. This isn't quite as easy as it sounds - the only way to reach the fortress is to battle through hordes and hordes of twisted alien space fiends, all armed to the teeth and all hungry for blood. Thankfully Lance and Bill are equipped with some quite stupidly powerful weapons and they're awesomely strong to boot. A stroke of luck, that - cos you don't want some weedy wimp trying to stomp alien heads, do you?

Super Contra was one of my favourite arcades and this is a brilliant sequel. It borrows elements from the previous games in the series and turns them into something very special. Platform action is the big ingredient - looking like a cross between Strider and Midnight Resistance the game gives you 360 degree control of your gun as well as some incredibly athletic climbing powers. Graphically this game is excellent - most Super Nintendo games look impressive, but this is usually down to good use of special effects. This time round the sprites and backgrounds are beautifully designed and quite awesome to see - and the use of scaling and rotation in Contra isn't just a gimmick, it's an intrinsic part of the gameplay. The top-down sections are a frantic race against time and add a fair bit of tension to the proceedings, but the music really makes this something special with a combination of orchestral pieces and driving rock music thrown in! Sampled screams and beefy explosions all enhance the atmosphere and it's a case of turning the volume up, the autofire on and your brain on. The best game of its type on the Fanny so far.

FRANK O'CONNOR

Yuki it's uglier than a twisted turd, so try it!

▼ RUN!

There are all the usual shooty features, like extra weapons, shields and smart bombs. There's also a feast of guns available and you can carry two at once, switching between them as and when you wish!

COR! WHAT A BEEFY WEAPON

IT'S THOSE GRYZOR GEEZERS!

Contra Spirit is a sequel of sorts to the arcade games Gryzor and Super Contra. The platform action of Gryzor has been tweaked, giving the game more than a hint of Strider, and the top-down sections from Super Contra have been enhanced using the scaling and rotation abilities to spectacular effect.

As you run round the various levels wasting baddies and causing all sorts of mischief, weapons pods will be flying about. Shoot them and they drop an extra weapon on your head. These include four-way spread fire, flame-thrower, homing missiles and rockets. The saddest weapon of the lot though, is the laser gun, which is about as much use as a one-legged man in a botty locking contest. You can switch between weapons, but die and you lose the one you were using. Boo!

TWO PLAYER ACTION

The grooviest thing about Contra Spirit is the top-notch two player action. You can both run about at the same time, blowing away baddies and helping each other out. The top-down section takes place in a split screen, so you can explore the terrain independently. Sadly though, on the vertically scrolling sections if you're too slow you get killed. People with dubious friends might find their mate deliberately bumping them off. This just serves to improve the gameplay and gives this title that competitive edge. Mind you, it's harder in one player mode!

▲ Shoot the big red thing!
▼ Try not to get lost!

THE WHIRLING DERVISH

On almost every level you can access a fairly secret power. Press the left and right pads at the top of the joystick simultaneously and you turn into a spinning ball of death! You pull out both guns at once and spin round like a loony, killing almost everything on screen, and the best part is that you can do it as many times as you like - even on the top-down levels!

DRIVING FORCE

At two intervals in the game you'll be given the chance to drive a couple of vehicles. You can ride around for most of the first level in a great big truck, armed with a napalm bazooka.

While inside this you're totally indestructible and can lay waste to legions of bedies. On later levels you get the chance to ride a hovering speeder bike (a bit like those in Return of the Jedi). These are fast and maneuverable, but leave you exposed to enemy fire and pants pooping danger!

▲ This thing is stupid, ugly and very dangerous... waste the damn thing!

▼ It looks like you're trapped!

BILL AND LANCE'S EXCELLENT ADVENTURES

Arcade fans might remember the original Gyrzor coin-op. It was called Contra everywhere else in the world except Europe. The reason for this was that the political conflict in Nicaragua (where real life Contra rebels were killing and being killed) was considered too sensitive. This was actually a bit daft considering that the sequel was allowed to retain its original name - Super Contra. Confused? Don't worry - everyone else is as well.

BAD BOY BOSSES

Contra Spirit's end of level bosses are so bad they'll give you nightmares! These big bad boys really know how to spread death and destruction, and they come in all shapes and sizes! Watch out for the incredible killer skeleton and his door-rapping party pack! Then there's the biggest, baddest boss of them all - the blinking brain with ten attack patterns to overcome before you can blow him away!

◀ Kerblam! The organ gets it! Uh oh, who's this guy?

REVIEW

Unbelievable! Just when you think you've seen all the Super Nintendo can do, along come Konami with another gobbletically brilliant game which blows everything else away! Big, bold and beautiful epics are just the tip of the iceberg on a game so red hot it'll probably melt your joyed as you battle wava after wava of alien scumbags through smooth scrolling scenes of diaster! Best of all, the action's accompanied by some real rock and roll soundtracks which spur you on through thick and thin! Take on the evil empire yourself and it's a riot and a half, but join forces with a pal and Contra Spirit just can't be matched! The game may boast six levels, but it's actually two games in one because of the vastly different styles of play you'll find. The top-down sections can be wall confounding at first, but once you've mastered them they're a riot! More than just a game, this is an all-singing, all-dancing, all-murder and mayhem experience you've just GOT to have and if I was one of Nintendo's rivals I'd poop my pants if I saw this. Contra Spirit is exactly the sort of game console track has been waiting for - and this cart more than delivers. Grab this one a bit quick and remember to thank CVG for telling you all about it!

Basically the head honchos at CVG decided I was getting much too big for my hobnail boots, so they've given me even more space for your usalaas latters! So this month I've waded through the piles of crud you lot insist on sending and come up with another prize crop of crap to fill these awasomely huge and completely brilliant pages. If you reckon you can match my amazing wit and wisdom, or you're just a pathetic excuse for a games-player who wants a silly question answered, this is where you need to be. And if getting your nema in the world's greatest Mellbag isn't enough, I've got a bloody enormous £100 in used flivers for the best letter of the lot! ## MONEY MOUNTAIN MORONICS

Dear YOB,

I have only read the last month's issue of YOB in CVG, after that I came to the conclusion that you are a genius and whatever you get paid is nowhere near enough. I suggest we join together and publish YOB's Mailbag as a separate mag and make millions. What do you think?

Sad Sam,

Dewsbury, W Yorkshire

YOB: Too late, Sad Sam - I already earn tons and get to drive about in a company car with my secretary Miss Frazzova. Rammar the Ferrari that burned up your recycled tricycles at the traffic lights the other day? That was me.

MEGADRIVE MADNESS

Dear YOB,

I am writing in reply to several letters printed in recent issues of CVG. The latters I am talking about are the ones going on about Amigas and Megadrives. I have one thing to say: If the Megadrive is better than the Amiga, where can you buy a printer for the Megadrive? Exactly. Another thing I thought you only had one thing to say! - YOB! I have to say is if you buy an Amiga you get more value for money in the long run because the games are cheaper. So all you dozy Megadrive owners out there, I advise you to eat it and get the insurance money then buy an Amiga!

PAUL JONES
Worcester

YOB: And I'd advise you to seek emergency hypnotherapy treatment to cure you of all your sad delusions. Next patient, please...

FRANTIC FINS

Dear YOB,

We are in England being on an exchange of the School's. We are much liking your CVG reading, but in Finland no shops in CVG are doing. Subscription to OWNERS can we have. We are your country much like with GX4000 why in your magazine not feature? We are your country much like hope English to improve to go? Are you of the it but who what? Yes! But me TV see it go under (a Finland joke in). Finland in GX4000 buy like warm fish. Up the good keep worken too!

ANGERS BEJERN,

YOB: I am your sad latter reading and much stupidness am I find. If you are thinking I believe such load of codswallop, waste of space cratin are you being. Be favour me doing and at least hoex letters be funny making.

IT'S THE SAD BLAG

Dear YOB,
Sob, sob! Oh woe is me! My dear old Grandmother is very ill indeed. She has a rare form of the incurable 'I need a hundred quid to go to Disneyland' disease. Having contacted some of the top medical minds in the western world, I have discovered that the only treatment for this horrible condition are as follows: 1. Stroking the patient's curly ring with a golden crystal. 2. Applying Vic's Vaporub to all articles of a dentist's clothing. 3. Giving the old lady a hundred quid. After attempting to rob several banks and building societies armed only with a petrol and a Sonle album, I came to the conclusion that only one person in this universe had the power to bring this old lady back from the brink. It's you YOB, that I entrust with this mighty responsibility - simply because you have the largest stick-on Garfield in Brexit. So, just put the money through my door at a convenient moment and I'll ensure that it arrives at my poor old Granny's house. If you don't, I'll just have to sit here and pick my nose Ben Thomas, Aberystwyth, Wales

YOB: It's a funny old world, isn't it. On second thought, with Ben Thomas around perhaps it isn't...

I'M JAMIE THE JERK

Dear YOB,
1. What is the difference between a Famicom and a Super NES? 2. Is Sonic coming out on the Amiga? 3. Will you send me a Megadrive? JAMIE YOUNG, Gyle, Edinburgh

YOB: 1. What's the difference between Jamie Young and a steaming pile of horse dung? Answer: at least you can use the dung to grow your roset. 2. Don't you read the meg? 3. If you ask nicely, I might. Then again, I may not...

CRAZY QUESTIONS

Dear YOB,
Here is a bit of e questions for you: 1. Date of birth? 2. Fave computer? 3. Fave Console? 4. Fave Hand Held? 5. Fave Arcade. 6. Fave Game

TIM ANDREWATHA
Cheleole, Dorset

YOB: 1. Mum was drunk and can't remember. 2. My First Computer by Tony. 3. Holostar. 4. A Baseball Bat. 5. Anywhere that hasn't banned me yet. 6. Australian Rules Football.

SUPER NINTENDO STUPIDITY

Dear YOB,
Could you please answer my questions on the Super Nintendo? 1. In another magazine it says that when the Super Nintendo comes out it will only have one joy pad and it will come with SMB4, Palowings, Super Tennis and Super Soccer and that the English version will be the same shape as the Japanese Famicom. Is all this true and if it is will the Super Nintendo cost more than £149.99? 2

Will there be a converter so you could play Japanese carts? 3. Will you need an even bigger joy pad to play Streetfighter II because you might need six buttons instead of four?

4. When will we be getting SF2 for our English Super Nintendo? Keep up the good work on your totally brilliant mag!

GAVIN HOLSTON
Truro, Cornwall

YOB: 1. It won't come with them all! Wheddy expect for £150! 2. At most certainly! 3. The SNES joy pad has six buttons - think about it! 4. Yup, but you might have to wait awhile.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Dear YOB,

Why don't you change the name of the magazine to Console and Video Games? Also, can you tell me why the mag has turned its attention to Consoles? Please pass this short but informative message on to the Editor as this used to be good mag Steve Majchrzakowski, Blackley, Manchester

YOB: Why don't you pull your head out of the sand and start looking at the world around you. More and more people are buying consoles these days - and many of them are people who would never have bought a computer. Does that stop them being computer games players? Of course not! No matter which machine it's on, it's a hot computer or video game. CVG will be there to tell you about it first. That's what the mag has done for 10 years and that's what we'll do for another ten. I don't know if you ever had any sense, but I'm not holding out much hope now...

GIMME GIMME GIMME!

Dear YOB,

I think your section is totally rad and it's the first bit I turn to when I get CVG. Just one little question though: can I have a hundred quid?

STUART TURNBULL,
Chesham, Hampshire

YOB: Sure! Just send me another letter containing the words I AM STUPID STU AND I'M THICK I AM so many times as you can. In fact, any body else can enter too - and I'll put up a sackful of software for whoever can say you're stupid the most times in one letter. Can't say fairer than that, eh?

A DOWN UNDER DOH!

Dear YOB,

I have been buying your magazine for about two years now and I would just like to say that it is the best. Tons of reviews, lots of laughs. My real reason for writing is just to say what a disappointment! Some of the Hedgehog is. It's got wonderful graphics and sound but it's just too darned easy! I completed it on my second attempt. Everybody knows how important it is to be in a game but Sega seem to have forgotten this. I also think that you get too hard a time for being mean and nasty. Because after all, that is your job!

CHRIS ROYAL
Brisbane, Australia

YOB: I have been getting letters from Australia for ages now and I would just like to say that it is crap. It's such a sad country they had to hide it on the other side of the world and Columbus mistook the whole island for a floating turd. If any down under dunces can come up with gigs of similar quality, fit them my way and I'll give them the Aussie equivalent of a hundred quid for the winner!

I DECLARE THIS COUNTRY COMPLETELY
CRAP!

CHEEK!

I'M A WWF WIMPO

Dear YOB,

If you can answer this simple question you are the cleverest man in the universe. Will there be a WWF game coming out for the Master System? Please answer this question because I don't know anyone who knows the answer, so bring the clever person you are! I thought you could tell me. P.S. If you do answer I might be able to fix you up on a date with a girl you like.

ANTHONY BELL
Stoke on Trent, Staffs

The answer is no, there won't be. P.S. Are you not making for your girlfriend again?

CDTV'S THE ONE FOR ME!

Dear YOB,

I have got a few things to say to Megadrive owners. Firstly, why are they drooling over the Mega CD? Sega have blatantly copied Commodore's CDTV. It's much better than the Mega CD. Secondly, why do Megadrive owners keep saying that the Megadrive is better than the Amiga? They are two different things you brain-dead cock!

JAMIE RUTHERFORD,
Norwich, Norfolk

YOB: If you check the history of CDs, you'll find that NEC made the first games related CD drive for the PC Engine. Now, I wonder who copied who? Next time you want to have a go at someone, get your facts straight so you don't look a complete pranny. Also, the Megadrive and the Amiga are different machines but does that mean people can't compare them? What's wrong with saying a Porsche is better than an Anglia or a Benetton Manning pipe on Bob Monks' house or a prostate operation is more fun than you?

MORE AUSSIE ANTICS

Dear YOB,

I have got a Nintendo and a Gameboy. On Nintendo I have Cobie Triangles, Gun Smoko, Waste Mens, Kid Icarus and lots more. On Gameboy I have Tante, Super Mario, Skeels or Dia and a couple more. I really enjoy CVG but us kids down under want to enter some of your competitions too. I mean, you guys have to think your magazine doesn't just sell in London - it comes to Australia too. Here are some questions for you: 1. Can you get some competitions where we can send in? 2. Can you rig up something to get CVG here quicker? 3. Please publish the letter - all the others must have got lost in the mail. 4. Try to include more Gameboy and Nintendo. Thanks YOB.

G. LAYTON
Victoria, Australia

1. You ought to know by now that CVG often holds comps open so that overseas types can get their entries in too. We're even thinking about a comp specifically for Aussies only. Whaddya think? Drop me a line with your views. 2. I've had a word with Mr Dropping and his carrier pigeons are on a dose of steroids as I write. 3. They didn't get lost, I just threw them away. 4. What's GO! full of then? Don't!

I JUST GET HYSTERICAL

Dear YOB,

I am writing to compliment you on your ever so funny YOB's Mailbag. Last night I was reading the latest issue of CVG and I must admit I was absolutely crassed. My mother was hammering on the wall of my bedroom and yelling at me to shut up anyway, my friend and I (Wally) often dispute the dominance of the NES over the Master System. Could you please confirm the argument and send me £100?

G. TULIP

Habburn, Tyne and Wear

BIG BUSINESS BABOONERY

Dear YOB,

I'd just like to have my say on the Amiga VS Megadrive debate. They are both very high quality machines, but if you like business software then the Amiga is heaven-sent! DANNY POTTS, Bristol

Yes I can confirm the argument, but I can't send you a hundred pounds. Ooas that answer your question? By the way, Mrs Tulip, how about hammering on his head next time - the lad might get some sense that way.

A WELSH WALLY WRITES...

Dear YOB,

I'm not actually from Australia so I don't know anything about Kangaroos. Furthermore, I've been disgraced by the lack of biscuit articles in your magazine. Please rush me my hundred quid to avoid the Chalmers rush.

SAD KID,

Dyfed, Wales

YOB: Ooas it acho avary time you tap your empty head?

SAD STU ON THE BOIL

Dear YOB,

For my birthday I got a Megadrive and I think it's wicked. I've got some good games as well, such as The Revenge of Shinobi, Streets of Rage, Madden's 92 and EA Hockey. So what's the problem? Well, without a joypad, these games are very difficult. My pal came up about a month ago and spilled Coke on it. I've looked everywhere for a joypad, but can't find one. Please, please could you send me one seeing as you're so cool.

STUART HAMMOND, Norton, W Sussex

ACCIDENTAL TRIP

YOB: Oh dear, oh dear. What a stupid little Stuart you are. So your mate spilled his Coke on your joypad, ah? Why didn't you accidentally throw your flat into his gob, unintentionally smack him round the head and completely by accident knock six balls out of him until he coughed up for a new one? That's quite a lengthy what I'll do the next time you write a chin-apinlar like this and try to blag a second joypad out of me...

SLIME RYMES

Dear YOB,

The boy stood on the burning deck, His feet were full of blisters, The flames came up and burnt his pants,

And now he wears his sister's.

BEN 'Cultura Machine' THOMAS, Aberystwyth, Wales.

YOB:

Sad Ben stood on the burning deck,

Eating crispy crackers,

Yob crapt up behind the ladder,

And kicked him in the knackers.

I'M JUST A MUMMY'S GIRL!

Dear YOB,

Give me a hundred quid or I'll set my avil, gross, well built, cruel, hungry mother on you, or would you prefer Kylla Minogue singing 'G'iva me just a little more time'. Um, that's what I thought...

Laura Salmon, Fareham, Hants.

YOB: Just what I always thought: girls really are as thick as mince.

You've must have a brain the size of a stickleback! If you think I'm going to be scared by anything a wimpy girl's got to say, especially when she lives in Fareham and buys crap Kylla records instead of computer games...

I'VE GOT A QUESTION

Dear YOB,

Just a couple of questions to keep your brain in order. I would be grateful if you answered: 1. Will Kick Off come out on the Lynx? 2. I have seen John Madden for the Amiga in the magazines, but when will it be in the shops? 3. When will Microprose Grand Prix come out on the PC? 4. When will NFL football be out on the Lynx?

Gavin Thomas, Oakham, Leics

YOB: 1. Anything's possible, but nothing definite as yet. 2. It should be out now. 3. Vary soon. 4. Right now.

PITIFUL POVERTY

Dear YOB,

Ever since I bought a brand new Amiga 500 Plus I have been borrowing games from my mates with older Amigas. The problem is that none of them seem to work on my Amiga. What can I do to remedy this?

Moham Choudhry, Sheffield

YOB: In their infinite wisdom, Commodore brought out a machine which was incompatible with certain games. They say these games are the ones that 'break the rules' which, incidentally, just happen to be the best games as well. The sad fact is you're up the creek without a paddle.

MY STUPID PAL

Dear YOB,

I have got a Mega CD and a Jag Megadrive, but my pal who has an old Mega CD Megadrive can't get it to work properly. Why is this?

Annie Lennox, Eurythmics

YOB: The fact is that Jap and old speeds, which is why your mates have to wait until the old. He's just laaaa far this year. Until then, just give him a sad Phil Collins CD and tell him it's a Heavy Nova. He won't know the difference...

I'M A LITTLE FIBBER

Dear YGB,
You lying gel!
Alex Pollard,
Brighton, Sussex
YGB:
YOU lying gel!

DIRTY SHIRTIES...

Dear YGB,
Why don't you print up some YGB T-shirts, cos I think they'd be really smart. Also, could I have a hundred Stuart Turnbull, Hampshire
YGB: What's the point of getting hundreds of old ones I don't use any more? Trouble is, some bloke wearing a gas mask on end said he had to take them all away for special examination because they hummad worse than a boosload of Buddhiets...

GO FOR A JIMMY

Dear YGB,
Well, well. What can I say apart from I've never heard so much butt from some one in my entire life. You sound as if you've had your head stuck up your bum since you were born and as for being witty, the only thing you can outwit is your own Y-Fronte. Mind you, I am a CVG reader! and so you must like me (and give me a hundred quid).
Jimmy Pelahoy,
Nowheresville, Arizona
YGB: The fact that I can't outwit my Y-Fronte is more than can be said of you. so filthy they've developed intelligent lita, which is more than can be said of you. You may be a CVG reader, but I don't like anyone who just lies to beg a hundred notes without even bothering to ask a games question.

NEW SKIDS ON THE BLOCK

Dear YGB,
You are intelligent and honest, so why don't you run for President this year? Thing is, someone told me there's a device for the Game Gear called the Grand Gear. This American contraption allows you to run Game Gear games on a telly. Will this ever come to England?
Adrian Snell,
Bournemouth, Dorset
YGB: Whoever told you that was obviously a feed and tonally weirdo, because there's no such thing. Think about it, you could buy a Meeler System for about sixty quid and play almost all the same games. Write again soon when you've grown a brain.

REVIEW

RACE DRIVIN' AMIGA BY DOMARK £25.99

RACE DRIVIN'

HEAD TO HEAD ANTICS

You're dead clever and have tonnes of cash you can get now a thing called a Null Modem which allows you to link two machines and race head to head. Provided you've both got machines and a copy of the game. You can race in any car and on any track you please and the only drawback is that the modem itself is a tad expensive. Still, if you've got more money than sense you'll have a ball.

THREE CAR PILE-UP

As in the arcade game, the Amiga version of Race Drivin' gives you a choice of three cars. These come in both automatic and manual gearshift combinations, so there are really six to choose from. The cars all perform differently and experienced players will try to complete all the tracks with all the cars. They are:
The Speedster: built for sheer speed and acceleration on winding, handling sulkers as a result.
The Roadster: a real toughie with brilliant handling and cornering, almost certainly the best choice for stunt tracks.
The Sportster: a good all-rounder. You won't go far wrong on any track with this baby.

FREAKY

PHANTOM FUN
In Race Drivin' your big opponent is time. Unless you're really good, of course, in which case you can take on the Phantom Photon. This bloke's a bit good, and just keeps getting better and better. In fact, if you beat him in a race he ghosts your better effort in the next round so you have to keep getting better and better. Racing against yourself is a bit weird, but great fun!

THE TRACKS OF MY TEARS

There are four tracks in Race Drivin' including the original two from the first game. The extra two are as follows:
Super Stunt: a massive and complex course, featuring a mountain climb, a corkscrew and the extremely perilous broken loop.
Autocross: a course for real hard drivers and a test of speed and cornering prowess. This track separates the men from the boys.

The original two tracks from the arcade are a Speed Track and a rather groovy Stunt Track, not quite as tricky as the new ones but fun all the same.

It's big, it's red and it's admired by just about everyone. No, it isn't the Labour Party, it's a Ferrari Testarossa and you got to drive it in Race Drivin'. This sequel to the original Atari coin-op has been doing the rounds in the arcade for quite a while now. This conversion from Domark has turned up in the nick of time and features quite a few improvements over the first arcade game as well as the home conversions. The game sees you in command of an assortment of vehicles - and the car you drive depends on which of three tracks you choose - all are different, requiring specific skills and talents to complete a lap. The cars perform differently too: some are built for comfort, others for speed. Whichever style you opt for, put your foot down and prepare to race!

The first Race Drivin' game was more of a novelty than anything else and as an arcade conversion it ranked very highly. This sequel is very similar, and for its credit there's a lot more variety. The main problem with all versions of Herd Drivin' is the lack of a decent control method. You simply can't hope to recreate the arcade machine's steering wheel and three pedals on a mouse or joystick. The clutch system is a bit disappointing too - you simply brake and then change gear. The tracks are fun though and the choice of cars makes things that bit more interesting. One major plus point in Race Drivin' is the two player option. The chance to link two machines for head-to-head racing is excellent, and it's a bit odd that next to no-one will get to play it! Unfortunately, for one player things can get very tedious very quickly. The graphics aren't too bad, but I've seen better vector routines, and sound is very basic apart from the brilliant gutter rattle on the intro screen. An ambitious game which is well presented and well designed but ultimately disappointing.

PC ENGINE £35

BY KONAMI

It's time to bleet some mors alien scum out of the universe. They're terrorising poor little planets all over the solar system, and it's your job to sort them out and kick some ass. Armed with a mere machine gun you need to jump into your mega space ship and put it into hyper drive to reach the mutating scumoids far, far away - in the hops of finding some decent weapons and earning some respect for you shooting abilities. Some of you lot may have already seen coin-ops, which was released in 1986. Since then it's been converted quite a bit, earning an all-round reputation as a cool blast. Now the game has emerged on the PC Engine, and it's one of the strongest of the lot! Get to it and blow some space blobs away!

SALAMANDER

PICK 'EM UP PAL

The follow-up to the excellent Nemesis, Salamander is packed full of fab power-ups. Initially you're equipped with a pathetic machine gun, which can easily be powered up by shooting an entire attack wave of aliens, revealing an extra weapon. Take your pick: SPEED UPS - Feeling a bit sluggish? Is life just getting you down? Pick up a few of these little darlins for super speed thrills 'n' spills! LASERS - red hot wonders which blow away anything in their path; HOMING MISSILES - alien scumboids have been seen to turn green and poop themselves when one of these little babbies gets on their tail;

GUARDIANS A GO-GO

In true shoot 'em up style, there are numerous massive guardians at the end of each stage. On the first stage you have to pil your wits against a huge brain that's equipped with two pincer shooting arms. Once you've defeated this menace it's onto the meteorite storm. Make your way through the meteorites and you'll end up in the company of a vicious twirling electrical fan (well, sort of). Circle around this, trying to shoot the centre which will eventually result in its death.

The best way to defeat all guardians is by powering up your ship to the maximum before you confront the big menace, if you're only equipped with a puny gun you'll be there forever - and you'll probably die of boredom before he finishes you off!

I just don't believe it! The PC Engine has tip-ple well done it again, with another arcade perfect conversion to add to its massive catalogue! Beechley this is virtually the coin-op machine squeezed into a little box, and all the features we've come to expect are there. Super smooth scrolling is the first thing you notice, then it's the gorgeous graphics faithfully reproduced from the arcade deity. Gameplay has got to be where the game scores highest, though - it can be one tough mutha of a beastie and some of the end of level baddies remain awesome after all this time! I must have pumped a fortune into Nemesis in the arcades, and a small mint into Salamander. Now I don't have to spend a penny (oo-er!) because Salamander on the engine is just the tops! Buy it and discover a total arcade experience in the comfort of your own home! Is there anybody still out there who doesn't realise what an incredible machine the PC Engine is - and it only costs about eighty quid! Quite simply this is another Engine classic and another must-have!

SONIC

THE HEDGEHOG

He's small, he's spiky, he's blue and colorful. He's brilliant! He's Sonic The Hedgehog and he's taking over the world! It seems like the whole planet's gone Sonic bonkers over Sega's spiky blue superhero. He's on Megadrive, Master System and Game Gear and soon you'll be able to buy Sonic hand-held LCD games for more hedgehog-related stuff! So what does the galaxy's greatest game meg do about it? Simple. By popular request we print the first complete guide to Sonic - with everything you need to know about the game and some brand new pictures of the lad himself. Is this the business or what?

THE SUPER SONIC STORY

For sad shufflers who don't already know, Sonic's a hedgehog with a mission. Whichever machine he's on, Sonic's task is the same: to free his furry friends from the diabolical clutches of the evil Dr Robotnik. This seriously bad led has captured all of Sonic's pals and encased them in biomechanoid armour - programmed to terronise the world! To free his pals, Sonic has to race through a series of zones each consisting of huge scrolling areas packed with hazards and puzzles and all sorts of other things very bad for hedgehogs. But fear not because our hero can fight back in a number of ways - he can jump on his toes or curl into a ball and leap onto any enemy, skewering them on his spines! By collecting the magic rings which lie scattered around, Sonic is further protected - contact with an enemy is neutralised by the rings, but all the rings in Sonic's possession are dropped. Any rings remaining at the end of the level are exchanged for bonus points - and if Sonic collects a certain number he'll be transported to the bonus level! At the end of each zone, our sky-blue spiky top is confronted by the doctor himself, armed with various weapons and intent on turning Sonic into hedgehog pie. Are you a hard enough hedgehog to survive?

BONUS HEDGEHOG LAFFS!

Whichever version he's playing in, if Sonic manages to collect enough rings before reaching the end of an area he's whisked off to a seriously strange bonus round. On the Meedrive it's a amazing rotating maze filled with rings and emeralds, while the Master System and Game Gear versions put our hero in an incredible bouncing room full of goodies! Both of them are a sight to behold as the led ewirls and bounces all over the place - and lots of people reckon the Master System bonus round is better than its Magadrive counterpart!

THE SONIC GAME GUIDE

Here it is - the most definitive list yet published of all the tips, cheats and hints to help you get the most from the game. Note that there have been quite a few versions of the game on Meedrive, and therefore you might find that some of the cheats don't work with your copy. Oh well, that's the way the cookie crumbles...

First up, the Level Select cheat that everybody should know. On the intro screen press UP, DOWN, LEFT and RIGHT. A tinkle will tell you you're on the right lines. Then press A, B, C and START together to access the Levels Menu and play whatever part of the game you like!

SUPER SECRET STAGES

On the Intro screen press these combinations to select secret stages:

1. UP, DOWN, LEFT, RIGHT, A, C, B, C, A, START
  2. A, C, B, C, A, UP, DOWN, LEFT, RIGHT, A, C, B, C, A, START
  3. UP, DOWN, LEFT, RIGHT, A, C, B, C, A, A, C, B, C, A, START
- Instead of a score there should be some code. By pressing B Sonic should change into a ring, press B to make him turn into another sprite and press C to make your chosen sprite permanent, giving you infinite lives! While cheat mode is on press pause, press B to see action in slow motion and C to get frame by frame animation, but be careful because it can crash. If you reset the game try getting it again by pressing A and START and holding them down for a few seconds. Select Green Hill Zone act 1, which will bring up a different screen every time.

JOLLY JEWEL JAPERY

Access the stage select screen (UP, DOWN, LEFT, RIGHT and A, B, C and START together). Now, select the special stage and collect the jewels. When the words CHAOS EMERALDS appear, press RESET and enter the special stage again. Collect the jewel and reset when the words appear. Do this six times in all and start the game - you will find that you possess all six jewels needed to complete the game!

BEATING THE BAD BOY!

Here's a level-by-level guide to beating the evil Doctor Robotnik. It's crucial info and could help you complete the Megadrive version without cheating!

GREEN HILL ZONE: As Sonic runs past the lamppost he will arrive at a screen on which are two floating ledges. Jump onto the right one first and wait for Dr Robotnik to appear. As he comes toward Sonic, jump up and butt him three or four times. Robotnik will then release a huge ball and then which will start to swing to the right. Jump over the ball and Sonic will probably bash the doctor's craft again. Then jump onto the left hand ledge and, when the ball starts to come Sonic's way, leap over it, hitting the craft. Keep doing this until Robotnik is defeated.

MARBLE ZONE: There are two rock mounds on the end screen - jump onto the right one and wait for Robotnik to appear. Bang him as he comes from the right. He will fly to the left and release a firebomb. Wait for him to return to the right and then bash him again and jump over to the left ledge as the final fire spike falls off the mound and into the lava. He then releases another firebomb on the right ledge before flying over to the left, at which point bang him again. Continue to do this to dispatch him easily.

SPRING YARD ZONE: As he crosses the moving steps, Sonic will encounter Dr Robotnik. This time, a large spike protrudes from the base of his flying machine. Move to the left of the screen - the Doc will follow and try to impale Sonic on the spike. Move a little to the right, so as not to get pierced, and jump up to bash him a couple of times. Try to keep to the edges of the screen and lure him into destroying the blocks at the side. Using this method, Sonic will destroy the craft and progress to the next zone.

LABYRINTH ZONE: Once Sonic reaches Robotnik, bash him and follow him up the rocky ledges. Try to be quick in following otherwise the water will catch up (and it's a well-known fact that hedgehogs HATE water!). Also, be careful of the spikes, traps and fire-breathing heads on the wall, as if Sonic is hit he will fall a long way down. Robotnik cannot be destroyed on this level, but if he is kept up with he will go away after a while.

STARLIGHT ZONE: As Sonic comes to the end of this zone he will come face to face with three pinball bumpers, such as those found throughout the game. Wait for Dr Robotnik to arrive and start dropping spiked balls from his ship. When he drops one quickly jump to the other side of the bumper, so that it rebounds back and hits him. Ensure Sonic doesn't get hit by any of the balls, and remember that when a ball is left alone it explodes. Keep on knocking the balls back onto the Doctor to complete this zone with ease!

THE FINAL ZONE: Robotnik appears from metal and glass tubes protruding from the floor and ceiling. Sonic must bang eight times the tube in which he appears. Watch out for two tubes popping up together, as he will be crushed. Once Sonic hits or misses a tube, a set of electric balls attempt to fry the blue megastar. They start at the top of the screen and slowly descend. Find the widest gap between the balls and, when they fell, jump upwards so as not to hit them. Keep doing this to complete the game and see Sonic rush to join his pals!

HOGGING THE LIMELIGHT!

With a superstar like Sonic tucked safely under their belts, Sega are planning big things with the little blue hero. He's already made a guest appearance in the arcade game Red Mobile, and there are plans for more in the future, but everyone's waiting for Sonic 2. The sequel will definitely be available in December on Megadrive (other versions to follow) just in time to grab Christmas Number One.

The exact format the game will take is still a closely guarded secret, but we understand that the basic style of the game will remain unchanged. There are also heavy rumours of a Mega CD version of the game, which will be absolutely enormous and feature some role-playing elements to keep people at it for months. Many people complained that the original Sonic was a little too easy, and you can bet your bottom dollar that Sega have listened to the criticism and will make the sequel a bit of a tough nut to crack!

CHEAT MODE

Hello! It's Easter soon (unless of course you're reading this after Easter has passed) and you'll doubtless be looking forward to those cheery eggs and getting loads of dough off those vague mistletoes. No Easter fun for me, though - I'll be knocking out the next Cheat Mode for you lot. I hope you're all happy. To compensate I'll be expecting some real tip-of-the-top tips, maps and stuff this month. Have YOU got any tips, codes or cheats for any games? You could win fame and fortune in these very pages, with the chance to star alongside yours truly in the greatest Cheat section in the world! To dig out those cheating goodies and wangle 'em off to: PAUL RAND'S FABULOUS CHEAT MODE: COMPUTER AND VIDEO GAMES, PRIORY COURT, 30-32, FARRINGTON LANE, LONDON E6 3AU. If your tips are smart, you'll win £100 worth of games for your machine - just like Darnold Smurfit has for his Monkey Island 2 solution. See ya next month for more of the greatest tips in the world!

AMIGA

ROBIN HOOD

Robin Hood, Robin Hood, riding through the glen. He was obviously accompanied by Leigh Jackson of Beverley, 4 Humbaride, because he's got these lousy cheats to customise the game to your own liking! Press the ALT key and type in one of the following:

370: OUTLAW STAG HUNTING
371: OUTLAW ROBIN HOOD
372: OUTLAW MERRY MEN
441: CYCLE THROUGH SEASONS
214: MOVE TO SPRING HEAR THE WIZARD
668: MAKE MERRY MEN JOIN UP

103: MAKE MARION FALL IN LOVE WITH ROBIN
166: MAXIMUM HEROISM
167: MINIMUM HEROISM
828: LEGALISE ROBIN HOOD
666: CAUSE A CHURCH SERVICE

HEIMDALL

It's that busy little beaver Leigh Jackson again, this time with a handy hint for those of you who keep getting killed in this rather tasty RPG from Core. Go to the SAVE option at the start of the game and, when it tells you to insert your saved game disk, click on "NO" and you'll be back on the same screen with everything you had before your death!

FINAL FIGHT

Leigh Jackson is certainly quite a CVG Hero this month. His final tip on the Amiga is for the US Gold conversion of Capcom's cracking beat 'em up. After loading the game, a map of the city appears. Wait until the telephone conversation comes up between Haggar and the criminal! When the baddy says "Switch on your TV", quickly press HELP and a cheat screen will appear!

JIMMY WHITES SNOOKER

Snooker loopy, nuts are we. Just like Adam Bowditch, who defines his place of residence as Dorchester, Dorset and has a great tip for this laddy sports sim. He reckons that when you feel the computer player practically always takes his shot instead of letting you have your yours. To overcome this, when the foul message appears on screen hold down both mouse buttons until your shot is given!

MEGADRIVE

JOHN MADDOEN'S 92

Yours truly reviewed this on GamesMaster and thought it was great. So does Craig Hack - apt surname, I think you'll agree. Anyway, he's from Arnold, Notts, and he's got codes to play some of the later matches in this American footy beast!

QUARTER-FINAL: FD031SXJ
SEMI-FINAL: FD68L8DX
FINAL: PFZJLR24

SUPER NES

THUNDER SPIRITS

Yat Lau is a Nottingham resident. Not surprising, really - after all, it has been said that Nottingham folk are the business when it comes to finding tips for rock hard shoot 'em ups. Look - here's one now!

Press START and SELECT on the little screen to access the options menu, with both joysticks plugged in. After clocking the game, a new set of options will appear with new selections to choose from.

NEO GEO

FATAL FURY

That Yat Lau bloke (you remember - comes from Nottingham, smart Thunder Sports cheat) also whiles away his time trying to come up with tips for his Neo Geo games! What a boy!

Perform a forward or backward jump and a special move while you're in mid-air. You will immediately come straight to earth and automatically perform the move a second time. This only works, however, if you are Andy or Joe.

GAME BOY

TERMINATOR 2

This brilliant cart received a staggering 92% when it debuted in GBI a few issues back. And Dean Howarth from Oldham has found this cheat. Good, eh?

Hold down SELECT to slow the game on the reprogramming levels.

NEMESIS

Take to the skies and blast some alien scum with Peter Ormrod - who's got a tip for this excellent coin-op convert and isn't afraid to share it with you, the line and lovely Cheat Mod! (irony)

WHO FRAMED ROGER RABBIT?

Not me! I'm a lot sure! But I think the chap from Rainham, Kent who sent in these pass codes did - he's withheld his name to hide his identity. What a scoundrel!

SUPER MARIOLANO

Robbie Beaumont from Broadway, Wores, is such a fan of our Mazze that, as we speak, he's growing a large moustache and pulling on his dungarees. And good for him, that's what I say. Anyway, on with the cheat.

After killing Telange, hold down A and B together to warp to a new world with new monsters!

GAME GEAR

DRAGON CRYSTAL

Shane Drury is an Australian person. But I'm sure we won't hold that against him. Or will we? As soon as you switch on the machine, hit START many times until the game starts. You should now find yourself in a large room full of weapons. Good etc. If not, try again but quicker this time. Also, if you hold down START in the game you move twice as fast!

WONDERBOY

Jamie Bishop is from Ramfold, Essex. He's also sent this cheat which I can't try out 'cos some gill has swiped my Game Gear. Rolye the joyed anti-clockwise and press START continually after switching on the machine to access level select.

SECRET OF # MONKEY ISLAND II

LECHUCK'S REVENGE

AMAZING! Loads of you have sent in solutions to this amazing Lucasfilm adventure - but the most detailed of the lot comes from Carmot Smurlli of Windlaaham, Surrey. His complete guide is so, um, complete that he's won himself £150 worth of games and we're printing the solution across the next few issues! Remember this solution will probably hold good for conversations of the game to other machines, so keep it safe! Are we good to you or what?

PART ONE - THE LARGO EMBARGO: Our hero, Guybrush, is stuck on Scurvy Island and it's up to you to get him off. To begin with, pick up the stick on the beach before entering Tickwood. One violent assault later and you're left penniless. Leave the town and visit the Swamp. Climb into the coffin and paddle over to the Voodoo Lady's skull shack. Once inside, grab the ring from the skulls to the left and walk right to get fueled by the Voodoo Lady on how to do away with Largo. You've got to get a few ingredients for a voodoo doll of Largo - some hair, some body fluid, some clothes belonging to Largo and a piece of dried flesh from a member of his family! Once you have been given the shopping list, slink back over to Tickwood and give the sign a rattle to get the shoal. Pay Welly the Cartographer a visit and wait until he pulls his monocle down, then pinch it. Grab a piece of paper before exiting, but don't dawdle as Welly's pathetic snoopings will soon turn you to a blubbering mess in front of your computer!

Now toddle off to the Bloody Lip Bar, but enter via the windows at the back of the ship. You'll now be in the kitchen. Grab a knife from the table and scrape through the window. Move one ship along to the hotel and cut the rope holding the head with the knife. Once the receptionist has chased after it, you can enter Largo's room and take his wig. One ingredient down, three to go. Don't hang around as Largo will soon make an appearance if you do. Leave the ship, grabbing a handful of Cheese Squiggles from the bowl as you go, and head for the Laundry ship right at the back of the town. There'll be a real scouring around here. Put the Cheese Squiggles in the box and let the string to the stick you found on the beach. Use this to prop open the box. Pull the string when the rat is munching on the Squiggles to trap it. Open it again and you'll be able to pick up the rat and put it in your pocket. Before you leave, remember to take the bucket hanging from the beam on the left (when questioned by the phlegm, just ask them whether it's theirs and they'll let you take it).

For another visit to the Bloody Lip bar, entering via the conventional entrance this time around. Hang around until Largo embraces you with his putrid presence. Before he leaves, he'll spit on the wall. When he's left, use the paper to scrape some of the phlegm off the wall. Now you've got two ingredients! Now come down and go to the cemetery, back to the hill in the background and find the grave of one of Largo's relatives. Start digging with the shovel and, one dramatic (and revealing) moment later, you'll have the last ingredient in your possession: a rusty bone. Carry on back to the swamp and fill your bucket with mud before returning to Tickwood. Go back to Largo's room and close the door. Place the bucket 'o' mud on top of the door and quickly hide behind the screen. Largo will enter shortly, only to be alarmed by the mud. After a quick stress he'll leave - follow him to the Laundry ship where he'll order you to pick up his clothes for him. Return to his room and grab the Laundry Ticket from the back of the door. Go back to the Laundry ship and give the ticket to Merly, who will give you a seamy piece of Largo's underwear in return.

That's the last ingredient, so go to the Voodoo Lady in the swamp and make a voodoo doll for you and give you some pine. Pay Largo a visit in his room in Tickwood and use the pins on the voodoo doll. He'll visit a bit and leave the island, but not before getting the living beard of LeChuck from you! You'll end up back at the Voodoo Lady's shack, where you can read the book on Big whoop which she will give to you, as well as some bad news about LeChuck and his imminent reappearance! Return to Tickwood and go to the Bloody Lip's kitchen.

Here, put the rat in the cooking pot, leave until the kitchen and go to the bar itself. Ask the bartender for some food and he'll fire the cook. Accept the job of cook when he offers it to you and he'll give you a week's pay in advance. Escape from the kitchen via the window and go back to the bar where you'll be promptly fired. Journey to Captain Dreed's boat on the Peninsula, when he refuses to let give him Wall's monocle and he'll agree to letting you cherish a rat's dock. You'll now find yourself on the deck of the ship as it sails off to see before you enter the cabin, make sure you pick up the perrol seed bag!

PART TWO - FOUR MAP PIECES. Before you look at the map you will find yourself on Dreed's ship. Pick up the empty bag of Perrol Chow next to the door. Once you've done this, go back inside the ship and select Phill Island on the map. Once there, you'll be captured by a Burly Guard and eventually wind up in the clinic. To get out, have a look under the mattress in your cell. Now use the stick which you find there to get an appendage from the laikaive neighbour in the cell. Use the leg bone to get the key to the cell from the dog. On your way out, pinch the two envelopes on the shelf. Open them both to get your possessions back, not to mention Mr Goulia's, too! Saunter over to the library and open the top of the model lighthouse. Inside is a lens which you need to grab, so get it quick.

Talk to the Librarian and get a lemmery library card, then get out the following three books by using the card catalogue: Book Of Hex (under RECIPES), Great Shipwrecks (under DISASTERS) and any one other book. Now go to the first alley on the wharf. When the lucky guy leaves, follow him to the next alley down. Once he's left, use the panel on the door. Now for the complicated part: keep on guessing the answer until you get one right! As soon as he tells you you're correct, save the game. If you don't get the next question right, just keep on reloading until you do. Repeat the process until you have answered three questions correctly and he'll tell you the winning number on the wheel of fortune in the first alley. Go back there and place your bet. As a prize, select the invitation to Governor Mailey's March Green Party.

TwinBee

THE BELLS, THE BELLS!

The extra weapons in this game are very peculiar indeed. Clouds with little smiley faces float around the sky and if you shoot them a bell will fall out. Collecting a golden bell will endow you with a big pile of points, but blasting them is a much better idea. The bell will bounce up the screen and if you're lucky it'll change colour. Different coloured bells do different things, but most give you some kind of power-up. You can get ghost ships that work like multiples, shields and various kinds of laser. There is a down side to this too though - sometimes the bells turn black if you shoot them often enough and collecting one of these is very bad news.

Murrah! More ridiculously funny shoot 'em ups from Konami! These boys in Japan have been taking advantage of the sudden resurgence in popularity of the PC Engine and released spot on conversions of all their best coin-ops. This is testament to that and is a brilliant version of the Belle and Whistle coin op. The use of humour in video games has often been a bit crap in the past, but Japanese games seldom miss the mark when it comes to belly laffa. The graphics are as with most Konami games, spectacular - brilliant colours, hilarious sprit and smooth scrolling parallax make this a visual feast. The music is silly and annoying, but the sampled screams of pain and delight are a right old laugh. The gameplay is awesome: on easy level it's a bit sed and pathetic, but crank it up to hard and you have an incredible challenge. With two players the game takes on a whole new light, with larca competition for bonus goodies and extra weapons. To put it bluntly, only minor graphical differences separate this from the coin op. Another essential PC Engine title from the masters of the art. Go get it!

FRANK O'CONNOR

TWIN TWIN BEES

As with all good shoot 'em ups, Belle and Whistles has a two player mode. Both players get to fly around the screen at the same time, blasting and competing for points. Playing in two player mode effectively doubles your firepower and as a result the game gets much easier. Best of all though is the heated argument when you snatch your mate's extra weapons just as he's about to collect them. When you both have a full complement of weapons, the screen becomes a mass of bullets and laser fire. You also have a beam up option (like in R-Type) which unleashes a massive burst of flame!

Also known as Twin Bee, Belle and Whistle tells the story of a young boy and his pal helicopter and crab combination. Confused? Yup, it's a Japanese game and it's as weird as anything they've come up with before. Belle and Whistle is a vertically scrolling shoot 'em up where even the beddies are lovely! This poor young lad loses his helicopter/crab combination when it sets out to rescue a kidnapped princess from the clutches of a mighty thingy. The reason for the rather odd name of Belle and Whistle soon becomes apparent. The fact is, the skies are full of bells! Little puffy white clouds conceal these bells and when shot, drop them in your path. Collecting these as you fly up the vertically scrolling screen will endow you with strange and magical powers. You'll need 'em too, because the endescape is something with frenzied cute things who make you squeak when they grab your beak. Kill 'em all...or die trying.

MEGADRIVE £40

BY HOT B

In a parallel Universe, technology has advanced in quite a different direction. Computers and plastic are unheard of, although machinery is more sophisticated than our own. The result is a dark world of wood and steel in which massive airships and huge biplanes dominate the skies and air pollution is thick and poisonous, the result of thoughtless mining and manufacturing. The government has only one purpose: to keep the people from rebellion. One man has risen above all this. A lone, nameless warrior sick of the evil and repression in this dark world and seeking freedom for him and his family. He has built his own aircraft and armed it to the teeth and alone must face the might of the faceless rulers of his planet. With nobody to help him, he takes to the skies in a battle to end all battles. Brace yourself, take your pilot's seat and man the guns. The war against the Steel Empire is about to begin...

Yes! Another horizontally scrolling shoot 'em up on the Megadrive! There are more than enough to choose from, with the likes of Thunderforce and Hailfire out there, but this game gives the genre a whole new slant. It's all down to the impressive and highly original graphics - the use of antiquated Sci-Fi ideas works brilliantly and the detail and attention which has been paid to the backdrop and sprites is amazing - some of the and of level nasties are truly gobsmacking. Huge craft drift around the screen loosing off hundreds of bullets and cranking menacingly as they approach and the backgrounds show a ruined and polluted city in perfect detail. The use of the two aircraft gives the game more than a little variety and the urge to see the next level is intense. The sound is, to be honest, a little disappointing. It's atmospheric enough but just not very interesting. Gameplay is excellent - lots to do, lots to see and lots to shoot. The extra weapons are not too inspiring but you'll need to collect them anyway. This is the first decent Megadrive shooter for ages and it's one that blast fans can't do without!

FRANK O'CONNOR

Pick those up for weapons and points!

▼ Run for it dude!

▼ Now this guy is hot!

▼ This is a big baddie!

▼ Wipe them out!

THE BIGGEST BADDIES IN THE UNIVERSE

One notable feature about Steel Empire, is the sheer size of the baddies. Even the mid level critters are blimmin' huge while the end of level baddies are a sight to be seen and they'll have you filling your pants with bed-wetting horror as they approach. One level features a massive flying warship which looks more than a bit similar to the third level of R-Type. This particular nasty takes about a million shots to destroy as you weave in and out of its various nook and crannies. The most horrible baddies are the ones that run on tracks, as you have to get very close to destroy them, risking life and limb in the process!

AIRSHIP OR AIRPLANE?

One of the unique features of Steel Empire is the choice of craft. You can choose to control either a large and unwieldy airship or a smart and fast biplane. Each craft has different weapons and handling abilities.

AIRSHIP - a ted sluggish, presenting a large and easy target for the enemy. To compensate for this, it powers up quickly and has quite a beefy selection of weapons.

BIPLANE - fast and sleek, but not very powerful and a ship for real flyboys. You can switch ships as you please between levels, but you'll probably find a favourite and stick to it.

REVIEW

Here's quite a novel twist on the horizontal shooter format, and a pretty darned good game to boot! Steel Empire is actually quite original as far as shoot 'em ups go, and most of that's down to the Fleesh

Gordon Meets Jules Verne's old world graphics which really make this cart stand out from the crowd. Somebody has spent a lot of time getting the look of this game just right, and I have to say I've never seen anything quite like it! Gameplay is very much what you'd expect - fly along and shoot whatever you come across - but you can't really complain when the backdrop's as novel as this! The only thing that turned me off was the sound - it's an ambitious attempt to add atmosphere which doesn't really come off. That aside, Steel Empire is one of those games you'll probably love, especially if you're looking for something a bit different!

FASTER THAN AEROBLASTER

Arcade fans might remember a coin-op called Aeroblaster.

It was a fairly run of the mill horizontal shooter, but had one nice feature that made it stand out. At certain points in the game, the scrolling tripled in speed and you shot through a series of funnels at a break-neck pace! This feature has been borrowed and used to good effect in Steel Empire.

The tunnel sequence scrolls from right to left, the opposite direction from what we're used to - it's all very disorientating but a real hoot when you get used to it!

PICK IT UP!

'Yes folks! A shoot 'em up with extra weapons! It's never been done before! Seriously though, to get anywhere in this game, you'll need to pick up floating icons that shot baddies sometimes drop. You start off with a machine gun and bombs, both of which can be fired either backwards or forwards. You can boost the machine gun in stages, until it finally becomes a massive wave of destructive bullets. Bombs too can be souped up, becoming more numerous, more powerful and larger in size. These are essential for destroying some and of level bad-

size

WHO'S JULES VERNE?

Jules Verne was a top French author who came up with amazing science fiction concepts like 20,000 Leagues Under The Sea, Journey To The Centre Of The Earth, From Earth To The Moon and lots more besides. What all these books have in common with Steel Empire is the bizarre concept of what the future would be like. All the graphics are reminiscent of ancient illustrations that accompanied Verne's books. It gives the game a very peculiar atmosphere and it works a treat. Who says we don't teach you anything?

Uh oh!
What's this then?

Now that's a big gun!

Such underground armies!

Cannon fodder!

Eh! You're in a mess!

A flying blue stream of doom!

A flying shipload from hell!

OFFICIAL U.K. HIGHSCORES

DEAR SMALLFRY—

Welcome to the new Official UK High Score Chart! I'm Sadie and I'll be your hostess with the moseas for this odyssey of high scoring fun. If you think you're up to the challenge of beating the scores in this chart, then get playing and send in your achievements. Hand Held, computer or console, just as long as your score is as inflated as your ego. I don't care how you do it, just do it!

SADIE

MEGADRIVE

Little Lou is this month's Streets of Rage champ and his ass-kicking antics have earned him a massive score. Of course I'll bet there are hundreds of players out there who reckon they can do better, so don't just sit there, send 'em in. I'd like to see some scores for Rolling Thunder 2 next month, so get playing.

AMIGA

Robocop 3 has seen a lot of punishment this last month, but there have been far more entries from WWF players. Winner this month using the British Bulldog, is Paul Dagnall from sunny Bolton. Lal's sees some Hulk and Undertaker scores for next month dudes.

ROBOCOP 3	03078 CHURCH

NINTENDO

What I want to know is, what kind of a genius does it take to get such a massive score on Probotector? If you can beat it, then maybe you should drop me a line. I've always got time for video game heroes. Also, Double Dragon 2 gets the treatment from David Mackey who completed it with one life.

SUPER MARIO 3	1,520,740
Erhan Kennedy, Belvedere, Kent
DUCK HUNT	ROUND 22
Andrew Norman, Bridgewater, Somerset
PROBOTECTOR	1,399,970

SEGA

The Sonic scores have been flooding in this month as you finally get to grips with Sega's spiky haired hero. David Marshall is the dude with this best score this month though, but let's see if anyone can beat that magic million. Also, get those Line of Fire scores in!

SONIC THE HEDGEHOG	834,200
David Marshall, Weston Super Mare, Avon
MICKEY MOUSE	856,750

Leslie Anderson, Co. Armagh, N.Ireland
SUPER MONACO GP	COMPLET 80 POINTS
Jonathan Goodall, Chasetow, Gwent

PC ENGINE

There are a ton of PC Engine owners out there, but it seems like they play nothing except PC Kid. Paradise is just out and it's a real treat. It didn't take you too long to complete it though! Oh well, perhaps Konami's awesome Salamander will keep you busy!

PC KID 2	1,155,100

GAMEBOY

It's a bit of a Super Mario special this month with an absolute flood of Super Mario Land scores dropping through our mailbox. Those scores are really getting up there, but Christopher Thomas is the man with the best this month. If you think his score is weedy or otherwise pathetic, then drop us a line.

SUPER MARIO LAND	344,960

Ok guys, this is it, your chance to be up there with the best of the best. There's no room for excuses and absolutely no room for wimps. If you think you're up to it, get your joystick out and show me what you're made of and beat this month's scores. Fill out the form below and address it to SCORE WITH SADIE at the usual address. If your score is good enough, it'll be printed in the Official UK High Score Chart and you'll be admired and loved by thousands of gamers all over the land. If it's especially outstanding, you might even be called up to challenge the CVG boys at the game of their choice. Not only do you beat the boys at their own game, but you'll walk away with a rather stonky prize!

DEAR SADIE, I THINK I'M BETTER THAN THOSE SAD CVG ORONGDS ANYWAY, SO HERE ARE MY AWESOME HIGHScores.:

INCREDIBLE! Our amazing competition to give away Arnie's T2 T-shirt really got you lot going over the last couple of months, so much so that we had to keep the compo open for an extra four weeks! Well, now it's over - and you wouldn't believe the quality of the pics and laffs which dropped through our letterbox!

Tons of Terminators of all shapes and sizes flooded into CVG Towers, together with mountains of witty reasons why you lot reckon you're harder than Arnie. It took us ages to choose a winner, but choose we did - and the lucky feller who can now go out with Schwarzenegger's shirt on his back, waving that authentication certificate high in the air is... DANIEL KITCHENER from Wickford, Essex. Oooh, the lucky so-and-so.

There's his smart T-1300, taking pride of place alongside a selection of other Terminator treats which just missed out on first place - still, they do win the honour of a roll call in the world's greatest games mag! Congratulations to Daniel, who is no doubt erecting a big pile of sweets as you read this and should have Arnie's T-shirt in his possession right about now....

TERMINATOR 2 JUDGMENT DAY

ARNIE LAFFS AHOY!

Here are a few of the answers we liked to: "I'm harder than Arnie because..."

"...I eat raw custard cream and own a sawn-off pop gun."

Stephen Fletcher, Abergavenny.

"...I do things that would make his doo dehs turn white with fear."

Adrian O'Donnell, Co Limerick.

"...I eat my Weetabix." Ian Barnes, Northants.

and finally, first runner-up...

"...I don't plump up the pillows before I go to bed." Niel Cropper, Staincross, Barnsley.

Wow! Rosa Barry from Hanham, Bristol, take a bow for this one. Like the gun too!

Here's a faceless Terminator from the hand of D. Haigh. Way to go, D.

Mummy! Torben Anderson from Denmark is the skill fella behind this scary Terminator!

...REMEMBER IN THE WORLD.

Well done Ian Mitchell from Worcester, Oxon, for the funniest entry of the lot!

...EMERGE

Nail Simons comes from Newport in Shropshire - which hasn't stopped him painting this brilliant Terminator cartoon.

THE WINNER! Daniel Kuehner wowed the CVG boys with his vividly imaginative Series 1000 Terminator unit. We reckon Arnie could still kick the living daylight out of it - and so too could Daniel, when he wears his T2 T-shirt!

SERIES 1300

Anyone remember the old Cadbury's Smash adverts from years back? This picture, from some silly lad who forgot to include his name and address, looks like one of the robots from that ad - except they didn't children with shotguns.

CAPABLE OF INVISIBILITY (SIMILAR BUT ENHANCED TRANSMUTATION CAPABILITY TO THE T-1000)

- IMPROVED RUNTIME
- IMPROVED SPEED
- IMPROVED KILL EFFICIENCY
- CAPABLE OF BEING ABSORBED INTO ANY HUMAN TISSUE - THEN REFORMING EXCELLENT INFILTRATION CAPABILITIES

"THE ULTIMATE KILLING MACHINE OF A DARK FUTURE TECHNOLOGY"

Quite what Philip Wright's creation has to do with Terminators we don't know, but it is good...

REVIEW

NEO GEO £120

BY SNK

The Earth is ruined. Constant exposure to pollution and nuclear contamination has wrecked the planet completely. Children are born with two heads, five legs and other, more horrible aberrations. Only people in Yeovil fail to notice the difference. A crazed scientist has deliberately increased the level of radiation on the planet in an attempt to breed a race of super mutants and Earth needs a hero or two to save the planet from this menace. Who can they turn to? Who's hard enough to take on the challenge and survive? Enter Ken and Baz, both shop assistants in a Manchester Teeco's when the catastrophe happened. They decide there and then in the vegetable section to save the world and destroy the evil scientist bloke once and for all and without pausing to check the price label on another can of baked beans, off they go to kick some behind...

The Neo Geo has more than its fair share of this type of game and you're really spoiled for choice when it comes to scrolling beat 'em ups. This one features a little new in the way of gameplay, but it does take a novel approach to graphical style. All the characters in the game, disgusting mutants the lot of them, are brilliantly animated mutants and graphics are a whole lot more outlandish, even by the mighty Neo Geo's standards. Music is a little disappointing, but the sound effects are groovy. One fault with a great deal of Neo Geo is the lack of attention to character animation, but all that's changed here - even the most unimportant sprite is taut and lifelike. Gameplay is as good as you would expect from this kind of title, with basic punching and kicking the order of the day. The problem is that there are similar and better games on the Neo Geo and you'd probably be better off choosing something else. All in all, a solid and impressive release which is utterly lacking in imagination or originality.

FRANK O'CONNOR

BLIMEY! THAT'S ORIGINAL!

No it's not. Mutation Nation is virtually the same as almost every Neo Geo beat 'em up so far! Yup, if it's Final Fight style games you're after, you won't go far wrong with a Neo. There are some excellent scrolling beat 'em ups available, including Burning Fight, 8 Man and the superb Sengoku. Some of the older games are a bit cheaper now and you can pick up the likes of Magician Lord and Ghost Pilote for almost reasonable prices. If you fancy a one on one brawler then try King of the Monstere or Fetal Fury - both excellent.

MUTANT MALARKEY

Play Mutation Nation and you'll quickly discover another variation on the age-old theme of Smart Bombing. This time though, the smart bombs are mystical mutant psychic powers! To use these, you collect tokens marked A, B, C or D as they appear at various intervals around the landscape and let one off (pardon) by holding down the kick button while an energy bar rises to its peak. When it reaches the top, release the button and one of four bomb types goes off:

BOMB A: Your own body becomes the bomb - bursting into flames and spitting apart
BOMB B: A flaming fireball which blasts the baddies to kingdom come!

BOMB C: A lightning strike which builds up when you throw yourself to the ground.

BOMB D: This one's a big secret and very spectacular. We won't spoil it by telling you what it is!

NO BOMBS: If you don't have a token and try any of the above, your energy bar will be quickly depleted and you'll be off a series of superfast kick!

Two player ass-kicking action!

Two player ass-kicking action!

MAD MANIAC MORONS

The Mutant Scientist is a total loony - the sort of bloke who votes SDP and teaches media studies for a living. To reach him you'll have to defeat his most twisted creations on five different levels - but be prepared for a big surprise when you finally meet him face to face!

REVIEW

MASTER SYSTEM

£30 BY SEGA

Asterix is hard. Well hard, in case you don't know, he's this small blond bloke who singlehandedly defended France against the Romans. At short notice he was the best the French could come up with, and seeing as the Romans were a load of old women anyway because this is complete fiction he actually did quite well. This near invincible comic hero appeared in countless cartoon strips, available in just about every language on Earth, and the game is basically an Asterix comic with platforms on. You take control of the top two characters from the comics, Asterix and big fat wobbly Obelix. Asterix can perform all sorts of feats - punching baddies and leaping chasms. Obelix can eat quite a lot and would probably be dead handy if you got challenged to pizza eating competition. Sadly though, you get attacked by vicious Romans and dangerous animals without a single Cheese and Tomato special in sight, so poor little Asterix had better get his skates on and save everyone!

Asterix was always a love of mine and this brings back lots of memories. The characters of Asterix and Obelix have been brought brilliantly to life in a real cartoon treat. The game is more than a little similar to Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck, but that's not necessarily a bad thing. The graphics are superb. The animation of the main characters and the bubble sprites is amazing and the feel of the comic books has been transferred perfectly to the Master System. Music is a bit crappy, but the sound effects are decent enough. Playability is there in oodles, with the two player mode being a real treat. One complaint about Asterix is that it's a bit too easy - the levels themselves are fairly tough, but there aren't that many of them and the end of level bonuses are fairly soft. For platform fans and followers of the Asterix books, this is unmissable. A groovy variation on the Mickey Mouse theme and a darn good looking game, this gets the thumbs up as a Master System treat to enjoy.

FRANK O'CONNOR

OUR FAVOURITE TOONS!

The "My favourite's Plug from the Bash Street Kids - he's got big ears, gnins a lot and always gets into trouble. Just like me." Frank: "Calvin and Hobbes is the tops because Calvin's got an imaginary friend and everyone thinks he's mad. I've got lots of imaginary friends and I am mad." Paul: "I like Sid the Sexist out of Viz because I taught him everything he doesn't know." Jan: "Garfield's the greatest because he's a fat, lazy, useless waste of space with orange hair just like me."

PERKY POTIONS

If you're a fan of the Asterix cartoons, you'll be pleased to note that Getafix, the dubious-ly named wizard from the village where Asterix lives, has been kidnapped. He's an important boyo because he supplies all the secret potions that made the Gauls invincible and without it the Romans can walk in and take over with ease. The potion endows anyone who drinks it with incredible fighting abilities and superhuman strength, which can come in a bit handy if you're a weak little shambler without any muscles at all.

Asterix on the Master System? Neah. That can't be any good. How wrong I was. The first thing that hits you about this cart is the graphics style - completely faithful to the comic books. They're so cool they really drew you into the game, which strangely plays well apart from the odd screen glitch here and there. The game itself owns an awful lot to Mickey and Donald, but that's not a bad thing at all. There's an awful lot to see in the game, but you do tend to see it a lot too soon because the difficulty level could have been increased for older players. That aside, this is one of the best recent releases I've seen for the Master System and if you enjoyed the Disney games you'll certainly get your money's worth from this, especially if you're not exactly the greatest player in the world. Fans of the annoying little Gaul will have a whale of a time!

TIM BOONE

Oelix gives the wall a Glasgow kiss!

Smack those Roman scum!

Strange things are afoot at the camp!

UNDERWATER ANTICS

Asterix is not only a little hard bloke, he's also a champion swimmer. There are several underwater levels throughout the game where you get the chance to carry out some scuba related merrakey! The swimming technique is exactly the same as in the Mario games, where you press the jump button to gain speed and height. There are plenty of aquatic baddies to deal with under the water and even more points to be gained. Getting out of the water is the hard part though, 'cos the control method goes a bit haywire when you try to jump onto dry land.

Kill the submerged Roman but don't waste the potion!

Kerbamm! A potion explodes in the drink. You'll have to use them more carefully than that!

SHORTY AND FATTY

The two player mode in Asterix is a bit novel. One player controls Asterix and the other player controls Oelix, the big fat one. If one player gets killed, the other starts from the beginning of the level. If a player dies before he completes a level, the other dude has to take over and try to finish it. It all gets very confusing and you're never quite sure who's turn is next. In one player mode, you can choose either Asterix or Oelix at the start of a new level. Both have roughly the same abilities, although Asterix is a tad faster. Well, he would be, wouldn't he...

GREAT CARTOON HEROICS

The Frenchies have only turned out two famous cartoon characters, Tintin and Asterix, but video games have been using cartoon heroes for ages. Mickey Mouse and Spider-Man are both available on the Master System and are both excellent portrayals of the characters. Batman fans can try out caped crusader antics on every machine except the Master System. Donald Duck is now a top seller on all three Sage machines and Chip and Dale are now Nintendo superstars.

DARK SEED

DARKSEED MIRAGE

Now here's something a bit special! Fans of the Alien movies will spot these screenshots straight off as the work of H. R. Giger - the artist who designed all those 'orrible Alien things! Now he's been used as art consultant in one of the first releases from brand new software house Mirage, set to unleash Darkseed on an unsuspecting world very soon!

As you can see from these shots the game looks absolutely stunning, featuring graphics so fab we almost felt of our chairs when we first saw 'em! In the game, a sort of animated art adventure, you play a son of a writer who buys a mysterious house and gets plagued by all sorts of weird and wonderful nightmares!

The game features a fully digitised main character who moves in and out of the scenery in perspective together with reflective metallic sprites and a 'three-way' control system to come as close to virtual reality (or unreality!) as possible. Due for release soon on PC, with an Amiga conversion to follow later, this looks like one to watch out for. More news as soon as!

WIN THE SOCCER TRIP

Courtesy of Tecmagik and Champions of Europe!

YES! Here we go again with another CVG competition so unbelievably good you won't be able to believe your eyes. It's true, we're offering some lucky soul the chance to win the holiday of a lifetime - watching England go for glory in the UEFA Cup!

Yes indeed! - Instead of watching the boys battle away on the telly, you could be right there in the thick of the action with our incredible giveaway prize worth a staggering TWO THOUSAND POUNDS!!

This fantastic prize comes courtesy of the games heroes of Tecmagik, proud as punch of their forthcoming Champions Of Europe' UEFA 92 on Master System - the game which could set new standards for console lousy games when it's released on June 1!

This is Tecmagik's first football game for the Master System, and judging from the quality of their past releases it's going to be a goodie! There are the people behind Master System mega hits PacMania, Populous and Shadow of the Beast and now they're also busy beavering away on a Master System conversion of the ace coin-op New Zealand Story!

Now they reckon they've come up with another winner in Champions of Europe. The game packs all the features you'd expect, together with a stackfull of new ideas including 34 teams to choose from, sprint mode, penalty practice and official UEFA rules in a faithful reproduction of the whole tournament!

How would you like the chance of watching England in action in at least two matches during an amazing live-night free stay in a swanky hotel? The prize, for two people (which could be you and mum or dad) includes flights to Sweden, accommodation at a Three Star hotel for five nights, travel expenses and tickets to at least two England matches while you're there, which all racks up to a Two Thousand Pound treat!

So what do you have to do to stand a chance of winning? Easy - just draw us a picture from any Tecmagik game (all the games are named on this page) or write to tell us which you reckon is the best and why. Whoever comes up with the best entry wins the prize - It's as simple as that!

So grab your stuff and fire those entries off a bit earlierish for ON ME, EAD SON, INCREDIBLE TECMAGIK COMP, COMPUTER AND VIDEO GAMES, PRIORY COURT, 30-32 FARRINGTON LANE, LONDON EC1R 3AU. All entries must reach us by Monday May 11, because the matches begin on June 10 and we have to sort you out with tickets and stuff! Get to it!

OF A LIFETIME!!

WANT TO WATCH ENGLAND IN STYLE?

The lucky winner's tour will be organised by Travel Management who are based at Cambridge House, 5 Newbold Street, Royal Leamington Spa and are official UEFA Cup tour operator for the England Travel Club and The Football Association. Call them on 0926 313112 for more information on tours which start at £275

CHAMPIONS EUROPE

A SMALL PRINT: OK, listen up - all the usual CVG rules apply so don't do anything stupid like work for Tecmag or EMAP and try to enter 'cos you'd just waste a stamp and peeve the postie. Spacie! note: the prize is for two people, and if you're under 18 you must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. That's no problem though, 'cos if your dad doesn't want to go on a trip like this must be the saddest man since Robert Maxwell's bank manager...

SUPER OFF-ROAD

MEGADRIVE

Fancy driving a truck round a track at breakneck speed, smashing everyone else out of the way and winning pots of cash into the bargain? Well now you can, thanks to the boys at Ballistic - all set to unleash Super Off Road onto the Megadrive!

CVG heroes will remember we carried a review of Tradewest's fabby Super Nintendo conversion of the coin-op a couple of issues ago, but how does the Megadrive version measure up? We've seen a pre-production version of the cart and already it's looking the business. Up to two players will be able to race head to head around the eight tracks against computer controlled opponents.

As with the coin-op, a crucial factor of the game is earning cash to buy up goodies for your truck as you battle for first place and the chance for a hug from the beauty in the bathing suit. Already Super Off Road looks set to become one of the hottest Megadrive releases this year, so watch CVG for the full Review pretty soon!

MIRAGE

HUMANS

The world's most glib and bewildered inhabitants are not, as some people would have you believe, Lemmings. Nope, it turns out that daffier still are Humans. These daff little monkey descendants have finally reached the stone age and they're the main subject of the first game from new software house Mirage! The game is more than a bit like Psygnosis classic Lemmings - you have to guide the hapless humans across a hazard-filled landscape using their existing abilities to help them and these talents can be improved by "inventing" things.

You'll have to invent fire which can be used to destroy obstacles as well as warding off untuly dinosours and you'll find that the Humans have lots of different climbing abilities including ropes and ladders. Inventing the wheel can be handy - you can roll it, ride it or just look at it if you like.

Like Lemmings, the object of the game is to rescue as many characters from each level as possible - you'll probably lose more than you save, but you can meet other Humans and make them join your group. Humans is looking very much like one to watch out for, and it's due to come out on just about every machine known to man! Watch this space for more details!

LAST RESORT™

©1991 SNK CORP.

SNK

If you haven't played R-Type, you can count yourself as a bit of a shambles who doesn't get out much. We forgive you though and we think that you should check out Last Resort from SNK. A blatant R-Type rip-off, this should be in arcades and Neo Geo importers by the time you read this. Last Resort tells the tale of a world invaded by twisted alien space-crustaceans. As a last resort (hence the title), Earth launches its secret weapon. The last resort is a pair of starfighters, top secret and very dangerous. The fighters are capable of recycling exploded enemy aircraft and turning them to good use. The ion collectors at the front of each ship turn the raw material into incredible weapons which include multiples, homing missiles and best of all, ripple lasers! This is the first real shooter that SNK have produced since ASO 2 and so it should cause a fair bit of interest. R-Type fans should love this and CVG will be the first there with a full review...watch the skies!

The unit is equipped by choosing either the laser, homing or anti-ground missile. The unit can be set in the rotational mode and can be moved in the revolving mode. Use the "B" button to operate.

Save the power by pressing "A" button continuously and the unit will be fired. The blue unit is reflected off the land and the red unit is moved along the land for a certain period.

CORPORATION VIRGIN

This is the future. Advances in Robotics and computer technology have led to the Robot becoming a household item and one company has a monopoly on domestic and industrial Robots - UCC. This massive corporate giant sells robots for everything from cleaning the bathroom to playing tennis. One area of robotics that has proved highly profitable is that of military hardware. Human lives are too valuable to expend in military conflict and droids are the soldiers of the future. UCC has a reputation for being reliable and friendly, but behind this seemingly pleasant facade lies a web of deceit and horror. Gentle engineering has long since been outlawed, mutations and deformities became far too common and the risk of super-villuses was too much.

However, in your capacity as a top secret agent you've discovered that UCC has been messing around in the lab and their genetic research programme has doubled in size and intensity. It seems that UCC have discovered a way to combine organic elements with robotic parts to create illegal and dangerous cyborgs. Go get 'em and reveal UCC's secret to the world in Virgin's Megadrive conversion of the American classic

FORA TION

PREVIEW

THE TEAM...

This is definitely a solo mission, but you can choose your favorite character from a list of six. There are two androids, two men and two women. Each character has their own attributes and you'll have to decide which hero is best suited to the task of invading the UCC complex. You have various characteristics for each of the members, which include strength, stamina, intelligence and mechanical skills. Medical abilities and combat skills are also very important. Choosing a different player can affect the game completely making it different each time you play.

KITTING THEM OUT

Once you've chosen a character you'll have to equip him or her. The list of equipment is extensive and different items are required for different characters. You can only carry a limited amount of equipment and this of course depends on your strength and stamina. Humans for example will need to carry medical kits and glucose drinks to keep them fit, while androids can only replace limbs or weapons for repairs.

The weapons at your disposal are very impressive indeed and include tank grenades, explosives and the state-of-the-art machine gun. Other weapons include jet packs, gas masks and a red vision. Human players can buy bioelectric implants to ease their performance.

POWER UP!

The processor is the heart of this electronic adventure and it eats power like nobody's business.

You carry a general battery around which needs all the equipment. When power starts to run low, you'll have to look around for a power point. You simply plug in your cable and wait around until you're fully recharged. This is a good way to charge the power-hungry gun as you can also access security codes at these points. Use your security card to access otherwise restricted areas.

VECTOR RELATED MIRTH

The graphics, usually in a Megadrive and many vector drawn. This gives an impressive illusion of reality and adds real atmosphere to the proceedings. The main badasses are cyborgs which scale into your level of game motion as they approach you. One really impressive graphic is the animation used to portray the face of your power. A polygon face looks incredibly smoothly as a picture containing your attributes is displayed. The vectors look very impressive indeed and almost as good as the Amiga original, the only difference being the absence of viewpoints on the ceiling.

ORGANIC NASTIES

The UCC building is packed full of nasty mutants and lots of which are the cyborg monsters. These weird combinations of animal and technology pop up at any time and have to be dispatched quickly. There are lots of variations on this theme, but easily the scariest of them all is the Ripper. This vicious monster has been so well designed that its breath is lethal and as a result it's totally psychotic. Nothing short of a nuclear explosion will end this creature, so you'd better be careful.
